STORM IN HONOLULU LEAVES EIGHT DEAD AND VARIED DAMAGE

Residents Astonished by Rare Phenomenon of Hailstorm With Stones of Extraordinary Size —Nearly Six Inches of Rain Falls in Six Hours in Downtown District

HONOLULU, Feb. 28 (AP).—A night of terrific rain, accompanied by hail, a rare phenomenon in this tropical setting, left eight persons dead, six reported missing and a variety of damage on Oahu Island today.

About six inches of rain fell in downtown Honolulu during the late afternoon yesterday and last night. Dowsett Highland, a residential section overlooking the city, experienced fourteen inches while the storm lasted.

The heaviest rainfall, however, registered at the Kamehameha School, a mile and a quarter from the downtown district. The gauge there showed 15.72 inches, nearly all of which fell in six hours.

ASTONISHED BY HAIL
Hail which would have done credit to a far more northerly clime fell upon the astonished community. Some residents who never had seen hailstones, refused at first to touch them, not knowing whether they were cold or hot.

United States army troops, National Guardsmen and citizen volunteers turned out when the skies cleared today and helped police to repair damage and remove debris. Discovery of the bodies of two infants, David Sabanal, aged three, and Tina Sabanal, aged three months, tonight raised the toll of known dead. Both were drowned. Teodoro Jacinta, twenty-eight, a Filipino, and his sons, Johnny, four, and Victorio, eleven, died of burns and suffocation when their house

TO TAKE HIGH SCOTTISH POST

Duke of Kent Appointed Lord High Commissioner of Church

LONDON, Feb. 28 (CP).—The appointment of the Duke of Kent as Lord High Commissioner for this year's General Assembly of the Church of Scotland at Edinburgh was announced.

He succeeds the eminent novelist and historian, John Buchan, Lord High Commissioner for the last two years. The Duke's elder brother, the Duke of York, was Lord High Commissioner in 1929 and 1930.

In addition to their presence at the Church Assembly, they are expected to perform other public functions in Edinburgh and also in Glasgow, where they will go on one occasion at least to open new hospital buildings. It will be Scotland's first glimpse of the royal couple, married just three months.

A NOTABLE ASSEMBLY
This year's assembly at Edinburgh will be notable in that for the first time in history brothers will head the two great State churches of England and Scotland. Most Rev. Marshall Lang, a brother of Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, is to be elected Moderator of the Church of Scotland.

For the brief period of ten days which the assembly occupies, the Duke will be His Majesty's direct representative and thus Scotland's first citizen.

The commissioner is attended by his suite and has a cavalry escort when he attends service at St. Giles' Cathedral prior to opening the assembly, when a royal salute will be fired from Edinburgh Castle and some 1,500 ministers and laymen representing the church in all countries in which it works will receive the King's greetings from the new Lord High Commissioner.

FEDERAL GRANTS TO FAIRS HIGHER

Ottawa to Add $1,500 to Present
Maximum of $2,500 for Class
"A" Exhibitions

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—Increased grants to fairs and exhibitions from the Dominion Government were announced today by Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir.

Maximum grants to Class "A" or Summer fairs will be increased from $2,500, as applied during the past three years, to $4,000. To earn the maximum grant of $4,000 a maximum expenditure of $8,000 in prize money in agricultural classes will be required. In addition, each fair will be eligible for a further grant up to $500, to be applied specifically to the support of boys' and girls' club work and junior activities generally.

A further grant of $500 will be made towards the cost of providing judges. Total grant which may be earned is $5,000.

For Services on Saar Commission

Action on Construction Plans Delayed by Lack of Necessary Funds—Would Include Erection of Modern Stations Across Canada, Giving Better Reception and Adequate Coverage

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—A construction programme designed to give the national radio system complete coverage from coast to coast is contemplated by the Canadian Radio Commission, it was learned today. The programme, if ratified, would entail erection of new stations or increasing the power of existing stations in Nova Scotia, Montreal district, Toronto district to cover Northern Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Farm Loan Bill Ready For Passage

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—The Government bill plating $90,000,000 to the credit of the Canadian Farm Loan Bill to be advanced to farmers was passed through committee stage in the House of Commons tonight. It stands for third reading, a mere formality in view of the favorable attitude adopted by all parties.

The bill will extend operations of the loan board to all provinces, which means new ground in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island. In addition, it will make loans easier for farmers, and reduce interest rates.

ATTEMPTING TO STOP AMBULANCE CHASING

QUEBEC, Feb. 28 (CP).—A drive to stop lawyers from "ambulance chasing" was launched here today when a delegation of the Council of the Bar of Montreal arrived to discuss the question with Premier L. A. Taschereau, Attorney-General of Quebec.

Make Appropriations To Provide Costs of Jubilee Celebrations

Quarter of a Million Dollars Set Apart by Government in Civil Estimates—City of London
Also Votes Substantial Grant

LONDON, Feb. 28 (CP).—The civil estimates for the new fiscal year made public by the Government today contain an appropriation of $250,000 towards expenses of celebrating His Majesty's silver jubilee, while the Corporation of the City of London coincidentally voted a grant of $75,000 for the same purpose.

The Government's appropriation, among other things, will go towards floodlighting historic and important buildings, hospitality for distinguished visitors—who will include Government heads from all over the Empire; arrangements in connection with presentation of addresses from both Houses of Parliament in Westminster Hall, and for official visits by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and the Duke of Gloucester to Cardiff, Edinburgh and Belfast, respectively.

ARREST THREE FOR ESPIONAGE

German Students in Custody of Secret Police of Czechoslovakia

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 28 (AP).—Three German students, including a former president of the Nazi students' organization at a Praha university, were under arrest today, charged with espionage.

Secret police first arrested a youth they identified as Fritz Kamm, former president of the Nazi student organization, yesterday afternoon. After Kamm's hearing they made a midnight search in the German students' organization headquarters and took the other two, whose names were withheld, in custody.

Police refused to give out details of the arrests or the hearings, and the supreme court forbade Czech and foreign newspapers to publish the information because "it is an espionage trial which is still pending."

Supreme court attaches told correspondents, however, that no military persons were involved as far as the investigation hitherto had shown. They declined to reveal the exact nature of the charges or the alleged offences.

THREE KILLED IN TWO EXPLOSIONS

Ten Others Injured When Two Buildings Are Badly Damaged
by Blast

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP).—Two men and a baby girl were killed and ten persons were injured in two explosions which badly damaged a poolroom and dwelling in the Hillside section of Edwinstown today.

Parents of the infant, born this morning, and eight other persons, were injured, and neighboring structures were damaged by the blast and the fire which followed. The cause of the blast was not learned immediately.

STORMY TRIP

BOSTON, Feb. 28 (AP).—The Lady Somers, of the Canadian National Line, arrived in Boston today after a stormy trip from Bermuda.

Action on the plans has been delayed, it was said, owing to lack of necessary funds. The programme could be carried out, it is claimed, for something under $1,000,000. With it would be associated a plan to extend hours of national broadcasting.

WOULD END DIFFICULTIES

Execution of the commission's plans, it is contended, would overcome practically all difficulties and complaints now encountered in carrying on national radio in Canada. Modern stations of reasonable power would be erected in various sections where coverage has been inadequate and from which complaints about radio conditions have come. Surveys show such areas.

WOULD REMOVE BAN ON EXPORT

House Committee Would Allow B.C. Fishermen to Sell Sockeye in U.S.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—The House marine and fisheries committee today endorsed the principle that British Columbia fishermen should be allowed to sell sockeye salmon to United States canneries and heard William Duff, Antigonish Liberal, give notice of motion he would ask the Government to provide a fishermen's loan fund of $10,000,000.

The committee carried unanimously a resolution by A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni) seeking abrogation of the Fisheries Department regulation prohibiting export of fresh sockeye. Mr. Neill and Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster) claimed Canadian canners and failed to play ball with fishermen and had bought United States sockeye when the price across the border was lower than in Canada.

The Duff resolution would have the Government make available $10,000,000 to be loaned to persons engaged in the fishing industry to assist them in obtaining supplies and gear and to be distributed in the form of bonuses for shipbuilding and fish catching.

JOHN DANES INJURED

John Danes, 1176 Yates Street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital last night with injuries to his back. He was attempting to cross Yates Street when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Cox. It was reported to police. The accident happened at 11:40 o'clock.

Report Ethiopians Concentrate Near Scene of Clashes

ROME, Feb. 28 (AP).—News of the concentration of 30,000 Ethiopians near the Uluval sector of Somaliland was received tonight as Italy continued preparations for possible hostilities in Africa. The Ethiopians are near the scene of the clashes which led to strained relations with Italy.

Saarlanders Celebrating New Status

SAARBRUCKEN, March 1 (CP).—Hilarious Saarlanders staged a second New Year's celebration in the early morning hours to welcome March 1—the day the Saar is officially turned back to Germany by the League of Nations.

From midnight on they hailed a "new and better time" with beer toasts, victory "hells," frantic shouts of glee and patriotic songs.

To a thunderous "hell" from 300,000 throats, the French tricolor was hauled down last night from over the administration of the Saar Domaniol Coal Mines. This preceded the final ceremony of handing over the territory, which takes place tomorrow at 11:30 a.m.

FIND CAPTAIN NOT GUILTY

Third of Series of Naval Courts-Martial Results
in Acquittal

PORTSMOUTH, England, Feb. 28 (CP).—The naval court-martial, arising from the collision between the two great battle cruisers, the Hood and Renown, was completed tonight with one conviction and two acquittals.

In the briefest of the three trials the court of nine ranking officers, sitting in full-dress uniform, today acquitted Captain F. T. B. Tower, of the Hood, the world's largest war vessel, of a charge of negligently "hazarding" his ship.

In the previous hearings, the court had similarly acquitted Rear Admiral Sidney Robert Bailey, commander of the battle cruiser squadron with his flag on the Hood. But Captain H. R. Sawbridge, of the Renown, was found guilty, dismissed from his command and placed automatically on half pay.

The court evidently agreed with the contentions of the rear admiral and Captain Tower that the collision was due to faulty handling of the Renown. Rear Admiral Bailey declared that, if orders had been expertly carried out, the collision would not have happened.

FORMER JUDGE GRAVELY ILL

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 28 (AP).—Oliver Wendell Holmes, ninety-four, once the "Great Liberal" of the United States Supreme Court, was so gravely ill tonight that oxygen was being used in an effort to save his life.

DAVE IRWIN RESCUED BY ESKIMO HUNTERS AFTER UNPARALLELED HARDSHIPS AND SUFFERING WHEN ATTEMPTING TO MUSH ACROSS CONTINENT ALONE

By JACK O'BRIEN
(Copyright, 1935, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

BAKER LAKE, N.W.T., Feb. 28 (By Wireless).—Huddled miserably in a wretched snow house, sick, weak and half mad with pain, twenty-four-year-old Dave Irwin, formerly of Sarcoxie, Mo., was found last week by native hunters from Baker Lake post.

He was rushed by fast dog team to the post, where hardened veterans of the frozen trail, marveling at the young man's terrific journey, ministered to him with tender hands.

The tale of Irwin's trip, his suffering and hardships is one of the most dramatic stories to come out of the North in years. Authorities are amazed at the stamina and nerve of Irwin, and consider his trip one of the greatest on record.

REINDEER TOO SLOW

Two years ago, this daring young adventurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Irwin, who now live in Grand Rapids, Mich., signed up to accompany the huge reindeer herd that has been driven across North America into the Eastern Arctic to form the basis of food supplies for the Eskimos, who at times face starvation when game is scarce. The slow, monotonous movement of the big beasts proved tiresome to Irwin, and he decided to cut loose and mush across alone, prospecting on the way.

Notice of Motion on Proposals Gives No Details—Control Body Expected to Be Given Wide General Powers to Regulate Entire Industry From Grower to Consumer

No Sudden Change in Present Export Practices Is Expected

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—The Government today revealed it hopes to establish a board to direct the whole policy of grain marketing in Canada, domestic and foreign, to advise producers of probable world requirements of wheat and feed grains and to obtain efficient regulations for distribution of grains in Canada.

It was made known efforts to stabilize export wheat marketing will be only part of the board's job, which will include powers to buy and sell, store and ship.

Notice of motion on the House of Commons order paper, that the board would be proposed to Parliament contained no information regarding details of the plan and none was forthcoming from official circles. It was understood, however, the question of rail rates on feed grains for domestic consumption will be closely allied with its activities.

WIDE GENERAL POWERS

According to the best information available the board will be given wide general powers to regulate the grain industry, although it was considered possible no drastic change would be made at once in the present marketing machinery.

John I. McFarland, general manager of the central selling agency of the Canadian wheat pools, has been operating four years with a Government-guaranteed bank account to maintain price levels and secure orderly marketing of Canada's crop.

EXPECTED TO HEAD BOARD

It was known Mr. McFarland would be expected to retain a prominent place in the new set-up, probably as chairman of the proposed board, and it was believed possible the general practices of recent years regarding wheat exports would be followed. The power would exist, however, for the board to take over the entire marketing machinery with suspension of options and grain exchange operations.

Debate on the resolution which will probably open some time next week may be seized upon by Opposition members of the House to seek full details from the Government to the extent to which the Government became involved in the grain trade through Mr. McFarland's operations. This was indicated by remarks of Liberal members following announcement of the proposal.

CONCRETE PROPOSALS

LONDON, Feb. 28 (CP-Havas).—Concrete proposals for a five to ten-year agreement, to cover Germany's equality, are being placed by Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, before the French ministers. The Daily Mail declared today.

Large Saving By Refunding Is Expected

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—The measure authorizing the refunding of Canadian National Railway securities guaranteed by the Government, totalling almost $200,000,000, today was given second and third readings in the Senate. The issues are largely those callable by the Government if it wishes to exercise the option.

Should all be called, "as would seem probable," and final arrangements be made on the basis of present rates dependably obtainable, the saving in interest would be more than $2,500,000, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Senate leader, said.

CHARGES TO BE FULLY PROBED

Deliberate Sabotage Alleged As Result of Wiley Post's Forced Landing

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 (AP).—In the midst of intimations of sabotage, a Federal inquiry into the forced landing of Wiley Post, round-the-world flyer, shortly after his take-off last Friday on projected flight through the stratosphere to New York, was promised late today.

An inquiry was promised by J. F. Marriott, Department of Commerce aeronautical inspector for the Pacific Southwest area, about the time a laboratory report was made describing a sample of a "foreign substance" reported found in the engine of Post's plane as consisting of "metal filings and a refined portion of emery or similar abrasive."

BLAMED FOR TROUBLE

This substance was blamed today by Post at Kansas City, en route to New York, and by associates here, for his forced landing at Murr Dry Lake in the Mojave Desert, and they said the substance was deliberately placed in the engine. No motive for such an act, however, was offered.

Post's technical adviser, Billy Parker, said he had no doubt the substance as purposely put in the plane's engine. Parker said, "We have lots of ideas as to the motives for such an act, but none we can talk about yet." He would give no details. The sabotage theory was supported by Palmer Nichols, head of the Pacific Air Motive Corporation's plant at Union Air Terminal, Burbank, who reported the finding of the substance last night. Post's engine was tuned at Nichols' plant.

Necessary Talk Must Be Quiet

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—Speaker James Boyman, of the House of Commons, is a discreet man. He had occasion today to tell the House there was too much talking and noise during debates. He used these words: "All necessary conversation between members must be conducted as quietly as possible."

B.C. FAVORS ALASKA ROAD

Premier Pattullo Says Province Will Facilitate Project Where Possible

British Columbia is favorable to construction of the Alaska-Yukon-B.C. highway, but cannot participate in financial contribution to its cost at this moment, Premier Pattullo said yesterday.

The Government, he said, had watched the course of discussion on the project, and action taken in official circles south of the line; having already communicated the British Columbia attitude to Anthony Dimond, Alaska representative.

WOULD FACILITATE

The United States appears anxious to have road communication with Alaska. In that regard British Columbia would be very glad to facilitate the project in every way possible, and has so indicated to the United States representative for Alaska. With so many calls on provincial funds, however, it would be impossible for British Columbia to contribute to financing of the road," the Premier said.

British Columbia's interest in the route is primarily from the standpoint of development of northern areas rich in mineral wealth, and from the tourist trade angle, it was explained.

Anxiety Felt For the Wife Of Governor

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia, February 28 (CP)—For the safety of Lady Young, wife of Major Sir Hubert Winthrop Young, Governor of Northern Rhodesia, was felt tonight following the disappearance of a plane in which she was riding between Livingston and the Governor's residence in Lusaka.

Lady Young, the former Margaret Rose Mary Reynolds, married Sir Hubert in 1924.

WILL PROMOTE CITY OFFICERS

Sergeant B. Acreman to Be Detective and Constable S. Wilkinson Sergeant

Endorsement was given Police Chief Thomas Heatley's recommendations at the Victoria Police Commission meeting, yesterday, regarding promotions of men of the force.

Resignations from Detective Charles Gremer and Constable Henry Jones, juvenile officer, were accepted by the commissioners, also on recommendation of the chief.

To fill the vacancy left by Detective Gremer, Sergeant Benjamin Acreman, of the motorcycle squad, will be transferred to the detective office, while his post will be filled by Constable Sidney Wilkinson, present patrol driver.

Constable Maurice Wilkinson, who was acting juvenile officer during the last few weeks owing to the absence of Constable Jones, was appointed permanently to that post.

NEW CONSTABLE

Commissioners also endorsed the recommendation of Chief Heatley that Edwin G. Sturrock be appointed probationary constable. Constables Arthur H. Rudge and George L. Greenwood, who were taken on the force six months ago, were advanced from probationary to third-class constables.

ARCHBISHOP LEAVING FOR WESTERN TOUR

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP).—Archbishop Derwin T. Owen, primate of the Church of England in Canada, will leave tomorrow for Western Canada. He will be accompanied by C. L. Foster, of Toronto, and they will deliver addresses in Western Canadian cities and towns in the interests of the church's restoration fund.

TO BE BURIED TODAY

The funeral of the late Edward Henry Lineker takes place this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel, Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiating, and interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

C.I.D. RENDERS VALUABLE HELP

Bureau Assists in Identification of Suspected Criminals

Valuable assistance was rendered the city police department by the bureau of criminal identification during the past year, the annual report to the Police Commissioners disclosed yesterday.

The department during the year furnished the detective department with records of criminals who have been apprehended. During the year a total of ninety-one persons were finger-printed, twenty-three of whom were found to have been previously finger-printed in the local bureau. Forty-four of the ninety-one were identified as having been previously convicted either locally or in cities throughout Canada and the United States. These records have been of valuable assistance in court upon convictions of the more serious offences.

A total of sixty-eight persons were finger-printed and photographed and added to the regular exchange of records between the R.C.M. Police Bureau at Ottawa; Washington, D.C.; Vancouver, Calgary, Burnaby, and the B.C. Provincial Police. Approximately 1,500 new cards have been received and added to the bureau, making an approximate total of 73,500 records on file.

DRAMATIC STORY OF ENDURING FORTITUDE

With a well-equipped dog sled and good dogs, he began his arduous 2,000-mile journey. Down from Aklayik, which borders the Polar Sea, he swung, driving along across the treacherous barren islands, at times wading knee-deep in soft snow, again splashing through slush ice on the river courses or sloping into the bitter winds and biting blizzards prevalent throughout the Arctic.

At times he met an odd trapper, or came across a small snow-house village, where he stopped for a short time with the Eskimos, but not for long, as his goal was King William Island, on the other side of the Continent.

IN FORSAKEN SECTION

Across Great Bear Lake, then straight on toward Coronation Gulf he went, traversing the most bitter and forsaken section of North America.

To travel this section of the North, one must depend a great deal upon the land for food, for it is impossible to pack any great load. Last year, however, game was scarce, and, as Irwin plunged farther and farther into the bleakness of the barrens, the pangs of hunger tortured him day and night. His dogs began to stagger. The dogs were being used as pack animals, and Irwin realized that his number was up if he didn't get food soon.

He came to a little tidalwater stream and for hours he waded along shallow pools, carefully herding fish close to the shore, where he had placed rocks in a corral-shaped trap. As the tide went out some fish were at once left in these pools. It was slow, disheartening work, and the dogs, howling their distress, made it more difficult by splashing into the pools, usually at a time when Irwin's labors were about to be rewarded. After hours of patient work he would have one or two fish. He would divide them among the dogs, and slowly munch some of the raw flesh himself.

NEAR MAGNETIC POLE

Finally, last July, he arrived near the magnetic pole, on Boothia Peninsula. He rested there and then began the trek south to civilization. He was driving the same dogs, plus a puppy that had been born on the trail and that he had nursed on the sled.

It was on this leg of the trip that real trouble beset every move. Dog feed became scarce again, and Irwin searched for days for seal. At last, half starved, he came upon a trading schooner locked fast in the ice, but the grub was all gone. Hunger was making him desperate, and he lay for hours near the open water, weakly kicking his feet in the air, the native method of attracting the seal. They believe such a moving, fur-clad figure is one of their own and come near. Irwin was lucky enough to kill some, and tore the raw, hot meat out by hand-fuls, while his ravenous dogs ripped the carcasses to pieces.

On he went, floundering through open leads, clothes dripping wet at times, only to be quickly frozen solid. The dogs' feet dripped blood from the cruel, sharp ice, and Irwin lashed himself to the sleds and pulled. Snow blindness burned his eyes shut. Tears streamed down his face and froze into a mask. The pain in his eyes was at times almost unbearable.

POISONED BY MOSQUITOES

At his side, Irwin swung a useless hand, swollen to double its size through blood poisoning from the summer mosquitoes. The thumb of that hand is now withered and shrunk, and Irwin will be lucky if amputation is not needed.

One by one, the dogs weakened, three freezing to death while trying to get rest in the cold. Irwin chopped his sleds in two to lighten the burden of the remaining dogs, and pushed on.

Then he went through the ice near Cockburn Bay, just above the Arctic Circle. He was crossing a treacherous stream. The ice suddenly roared away from beneath him, and he was just able to cut the dogs loose and drag them and himself dripping wet to the shore. His knee was badly dislocated by the fall, his poisoned hand completely useless, and he was without fire, clothes, food or firearms.

He would walk until he staggered.

LADNER BRIDGE MEASURE FILED

Nine New Bills Introduced in Provincial Legislature for First Reading

Nine new bills were introduced by Government benches yesterday in the Legislature, and received first reading. Their full purport will be explained later.

Amendments to the Ladner Bridge Company, Ltd., Act clarify the authority of the Province to fix tolls on any bridge built at the Dease Island site; and extend the exclusive charter of the company by expressly barring tunnels, or ferries, at the same site.

On December 1, last, the company was given an extension of time, under an existing agreement, in which to proceed to the erection of a bridge crossing the Fraser.

Amendments to the Canadian North-Eastern Railway Act, passed at the last session, provide discretionary authority for the Province to extend time for completion of the road, not exceeding March 28, 1940, in any event.

INQUIRY COSTS

Amendments to the Public Inquiries Act would provide that the costs of any commission or inquiry, issued under the statute, could be borne out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, where no express appropriation had been voted by the Legislature. Some inquiries are under way at present, touching on coal, schools and other matters.

A bill to amend the "Arrest and Imprisonment for Debt Act" is technical in scope, and deals with notification of a judgment debtor, and rules for ex parte applications under the law.

MORE TIME CLOCKS

Amendments to the Hours of Work Act, passed at last session, provide for exemption of managers and confidential assistants; set up provision for compulsory registration of the hours worked by employees, by time clock or otherwise; reinforce the authority of inspectors to demand oral statements while examining plants; and convey to those who will enforce the measure the authority of taking affidavits.

Amendments to the Placer Mining Act set out a fee of $2.50 for recording any certificate of work on a placer leasehold, and the filing of an affidavit, with other minor changes.

APPRENTICE BILL

An eight-page bill deals with the regulation and control of conditions under which apprentices may be trained in British Columbia employment, touching particularly on carpentry and joinery, painting and decorating, plastering, sheet-metal working, plumbing and steam-fitting, and electrical work. The bill would set up a provincial apprenticeship committee, apprenticeship committees in the various trades, and an inspector of apprentices. Ministerial explanation of the measure will follow on second reading.

PROPOSAL WOULD END DIFFICULTIES

exist particularly in the Maritime Provinces, a section of Quebec, a large part of Ontario Saskatchewan, part of Alberta, and practically all the populated part of British Columbia.

With construction of new stations and extension of hours of national broadcasting, new and modern studios would be provided at points where most of the principal commission programmes are produced. It is said that, while reports from listeners indicate increasing satisfaction with the national radio service, the service is injured by complaints arising out of poor reception conditions and inadequate coverage.

SOON IN OPERATION

Commission plans regarding special reception and re-broadcasting of British programmes were announced some time ago. The special short-wave reception station at Ottawa, on which these programmes will be received, is expected to be in operation soon.

SECOND READINGS

Second readings unopposed were given to the Barrow Indemnification Bill, already explained; to a bill to amend the Metalliferous Regulation Act, wherein safety in metal mines is the chief aim without other major change; amendments to the Loan and Associations Act, to extend the class of shareholders who may borrow up to 40 per cent of their subscriptions; and to three dyking-payment measures, where an extension of time for payment of 1934 commitments to the Province will be allowed.

MONEY VOTED FOR B.C. BUILDINGS

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—A vote of $353,100 for public buildings in British Columbia was passed by the House of Commons tonight. It included postoffices at Chemainus, Creston, Hollyburn, Kelowna, Mission City and Penticton.

Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster), and Olaf Hanson (Liberal, Skeena), asked Public Works Minister Hugh Stewart to consider new buildings at New Westminster and Prince Rupert. The Minister said both proposals were impossible at present.

Nine new bills were introduced by Government benches yesterday in the Legislature, and received first reading. Their full purport will be explained later.

Amendments to the Ladner Bridge Company, Ltd., Act clarify the authority of the Province to fix tolls on any bridge built at the Dease Island site; and extend the exclusive charter of the company by expressly barring tunnels, or ferries, at the same site.

On December 1, last, the company was given an extension of time, under an existing agreement, in which to proceed to the erection of a bridge crossing the Fraser.

Amendments to the Canadian North-Eastern Railway Act, passed at the last session, provide discretionary authority for the Province to extend time for completion of the road, not exceeding March 28, 1940, in any event.

INQUIRY COSTS

Amendments to the Public Inquiries Act would provide that the costs of any commission or inquiry, issued under the statute, could be borne out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, where no express appropriation had been voted by the Legislature. Some inquiries are under way at present, touching on coal, schools and other matters.

A bill to amend the "Arrest and Imprisonment for Debt Act" is technical in scope, and deals with notification of a judgment debtor, and rules for ex parte applications under the law.

MORE TIME CLOCKS

Amendments to the Hours of Work Act, passed at last session, provide for exemption of managers and confidential assistants; set up provision for compulsory registration of the hours worked by employees, by time clock or otherwise; reinforce the authority of inspectors to demand oral statements while examining plants; and convey to those who will enforce the measure the authority of taking affidavits.

Amendments to the Placer Mining Act set out a fee of $2.50 for recording any certificate of work on a placer leasehold, and the filing of an affidavit, with other minor changes.

APPRENTICE BILL

An eight-page bill deals with the regulation and control of conditions under which apprentices may be trained in British Columbia employment, touching particularly on carpentry and joinery, painting and decorating, plastering, sheet-metal working, plumbing and steam-fitting, and electrical work. The bill would set up a provincial apprenticeship committee, apprenticeship committees in the various trades, and an inspector of apprentices. Ministerial explanation of the measure will follow on second reading.

PROPOSAL WOULD END DIFFICULTIES

exist particularly in the Maritime Provinces, a section of Quebec, a large part of Ontario Saskatchewan, part of Alberta, and practically all the populated part of British Columbia.

With construction of new stations and extension of hours of national broadcasting, new and modern studios would be provided at points where most of the principal commission programmes are produced. It is said that, while reports from listeners indicate increasing satisfaction with the national radio service, the service is injured by complaints arising out of poor reception conditions and inadequate coverage.

SOON IN OPERATION

Commission plans regarding special reception and re-broadcasting of British programmes were announced some time ago. The special short-wave reception station at Ottawa, on which these programmes will be received, is expected to be in operation soon.

SECOND READINGS

Second readings unopposed were given to the Barrow Indemnification Bill, already explained; to a bill to amend the Metalliferous Regulation Act, wherein safety in metal mines is the chief aim without other major change; amendments to the Loan and Associations Act, to extend the class of shareholders who may borrow up to 40 per cent of their subscriptions; and to three dyking-payment measures, where an extension of time for payment of 1934 commitments to the Province will be allowed.

MONEY VOTED FOR B.C. BUILDINGS

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP).—A vote of $353,100 for public buildings in British Columbia was passed by the House of Commons tonight. It included postoffices at Chemainus, Creston, Hollyburn, Kelowna, Mission City and Penticton.

Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster), and Olaf Hanson (Liberal, Skeena), asked Public Works Minister Hugh Stewart to consider new buildings at New Westminster and Prince Rupert. The Minister said both proposals were impossible at present.

Spiritual Revival Of Church Aimed at In Laymen's Report

"Bishop's Men" Submit a Number of Recommendations to Anglican Synod, Now in Session, Following Survey of Diocese

DEFINITE and concerted efforts, along the lines of evangelical work throughout all parishes of the diocese, are aimed at in a resolution arising from the report of the laymen's committee of the Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Columbia and read at the afternoon session of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the body yesterday.

The resolution, moved by J. H. Hinton, seconded by Deag Quainton, and passed after considerable discussion, asked that the Bishop be requested to carry on the work on behalf of evangelization. It was begun by the laymen's committee and the meeting of men, held in the chapel of the Memorial Hall Tuesday, February 19, under the chairmanship of the Bishop; and that the clergy in each parish be urged to call together laymen, sympathetic to the movement, for conference and prayer.

LAYMEN'S REPORT

This matter, like several others discussed during the day, arose from the report of the laymen's committee, read by J. H. Hinton. In it reference was made to the appointment of the committee by the Bishop in the early part of last year, the personnel being Messrs. Oliver, Hinton, Smith, Henley, Carter, Teasdale, McMillin, and J. S. Arnold, with the Ven. Archdeacon Colclough, Canon Nunn and Rev. F. Comley as members in advisory capacity.

To date the committee had made twenty-eight visits to different congregations for the purpose of securing data and studying the spiritual, educational, and financial conditions. A number of congregations still had to be visited.

DEVOTED PRIESTHOOD

"We laymen, who have visited many parishes, desire to express our regard and admiration of the devotedness of the clergy, as a body of devoted and unselfish men, all striving in their own way, and according to their particular circumstances, to carry out and fulfill their duties as ministers of the Gospel," the report commented.

Of special interest in the same report, was that section bearing on personal evangelism, which, the "Bishop's men" thought, was "a pressing need in the church today." This was discussed under four items of the questionnaire taken to the various parishes, but on which it had been difficult to secure an expression of opinion, convincing the committee still further that the laity needed "one of those waves of spiritual refreshment."

Suggestions of more social gatherings, more visiting by the clergy, better church attendance, and more communions, were all excellent in themselves, but did not, the committee thought, touch the root of the matter, which called for nothing less than a spiritual revival.

In the discussion of ways and means of bringing about this revival, Bishop Schofield, Dean Quainton, Rev. Alan Gardiner, Rev. T. M. Hughes, and a number of other clergy and laity joined. The Bishop urged the clergy to go back to their respective parishes and call meetings, with the idea of evangelizing each member of his congregation and making him a living witness of the Faith. On the other hand, the Bishop indicated that there was sometimes a danger that witnessing might become an end instead of a means.

FINANCES

The same report suggested that a committee, composed of representatives from some of the larger of the twelve parishes, should be commissioned by the Bishop, or synod, to visit every assisted parish, for the purpose of obtaining figures as to the number of resident Anglicans; trying to get all resident Anglicans interested in making their parish self-supporting; ascertaining the number of church attendants and communicants; and considering possibilities of consolidation of certain parishes. These recommendations were endorsed.

Religious Education by Rev. N. E. Smith, and investigation of the possibilities of such a camp, was left to the consideration of the executive. Rev. Harding Priest, Western field secretary, told of the work of his department in Canada. He spoke of the youth of the church as the "most wonderful asset of the church," and appealed for "more adequate development of teacher training," and the "development of deaconry conferences."

The report of the laymen's committee, appointed by the Bishop to secure data and make a study of the spiritual, educational and financial conditions of each parish, was under consideration as the synod adjourned for lunch.

PUBLIC TO OWN FISH INDUSTRY

Suggestion of Late Hon. W. Sloan Referred to in Legislative Committee

At the meeting of the Legislative fisheries committee yesterday, George J. Alexander, deputy commissioner of the department in this province, read from a memorandum prepared by the late Hon. William Sloan in 1919, when he was the head of the department, in which the suggestion was made to the Dominion authorities that the Government might seriously consider taking over the salmon fisheries.

The then minister pointed out the protection of salmon was a serious matter. The situation as it then presented itself, he pointed out, called for a complete and radical change in policy with regard to salmon of the Pacific.

In suggesting, perhaps, the taking over by the Government of the industry, the example of the United States in regard to the sealing industry was recalled by Mr. Sloan.

The deputy commissioner, referring to the memorandum, did not suggest the committee should take action along this line. He just wished to point out what the views of a former commissioner had been.

AGAINST MONOPOLY
The secretary of the committee, E. T. Kenney, Skeena, expressed the opinion there should not be any monopoly of the cannery end of salmon fishing. He thought fishing licences might be reduced, but did not see why there should be an exclusion of those who had no licence the previous year.

Deputy Commissioner Alexander claimed it could not be said there was a monopoly with respect to the cannery business, inasmuch as there were nineteen companies represented in the ownership of the forty-nine canneries operated.

S. S. McKee pointed out the Dominion spent about $2,000,000 on salmon propagation and other branches looking to the perpetuation of the industry, and in return received from the industry less than $100,000.

Mr. Alexander read from the Sanford Evans Commission report on salmon fisheries, made in 1917, in which it was set out that, unless there was a radical increase in the runs of salmon it appeared there were more canneries than were required to take care of the situation. He recommended, therefore, no increase in the number of canneries for a five-year term. He opposed removal of all restrictions.

IDLE CANNERIES
Mr. Kenney thought the 1917 conditions did not apply at present. He favored taxing certain canneries that did not operate in the area and yet kept other canneries from being established.

On motion of Messrs. McKee and Kenney a resolution was carried which recommended to the department that an endeavour be made to find a more equitable system of taxing canneries.

Mr. Alexander corrected a press report in which the minister, Hon. G. S. Pearson, was credited with saying that no floating cannery licences would be issued.

Mr. Kenney also had a resolution passed to give the white settlers along the streams the privilege of taking fish from the stream for their own use.

J. M'LELLAN COMMENDED

Detective Department Had Successful Year—Secures Many Convictions

A successful season was reported by the city detective department in making its annual report to the Police Commission yesterday. Twenty-five convictions for breaking and entering and possession of stolen goods were obtained. Three others were committed to trial in the higher court.

Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, in referring to this department, paid tribute to the leadership of Inspector John McLeellan, under whose charge the detective office comes.

Goods and cash to the value of $390.70 were unlawfully obtained by means of worthless cheques, of which amount $166.10 was recovered and seven persons convicted.

During the year the detective department dealt with thirteen delinquent minors on charges of breaking and entering and theft.

During the year the department attended to 153 letters and 110 inquiries for missing persons.

Stolen property during 1934 amounted to $6,827.96, of which $3,498.55, or 51.07 per cent, was recovered. Lost property amounted to $3,822.05, and found property $1,460.15. There were fifty-five automobiles stolen during the year, of which fifty-four were recovered. A total of 10,123 reports were given attention.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

Hands Across the States

The Western Bridge Association, with headquarters in Chicago, has joined hands with the United States Bridge League, with offices in New York. The agreement was signed by Edward M. Lagron for the Western, and Albert H. Morehead for the U.S.B.A.

The W.B.A. has been active in Illinois and surrounding states in the conduct of major championship tournaments. The U.S.B.A. is strongest in the East. Present members of the former association automatically become members of the larger body and enjoy all the privileges thereof.

"Our interests are identical," said Lagron, "and to continue the dedication of efforts would be foolish. It is important to keep intact the amateur status of their great sport, and we are glad to join Ely Culbertson in his endeavors to promulgate one national body, worthy of the name."

This amalgamation is very pleasing to me and to my associates. The wisdom of such a union is patent. It links together players from a wide area and creates for them a common interest. We now look to the West for completion of a chain that will reach from coast to coast.

THE NEAREST EXIT
In every theatre patrons are warned to look for the nearest exit. This admonition might well be repeated in bridge. In today's hands both opponents experienced great difficulty in exiting gracefully from the lead.

Negative Report On S.P.A. Measure Is Now Indicated

THERE may be no report on the Special Powers Act (S.P.A.), as nothing was done under its terms, Premier Pattullo indicated yesterday. Asked if the Government would renew the bill, now lapsed, at the present session, the Premier confined comment to stating that the Government considered the existence of the measure to have been very effective last year. The S.P.A. was the measure under which the Legislative Assembly vested its full authority, to act on Provincial matters, in the hands of the Cabinet between sessions.

SAYS LOGGERS HAVE PROBLEM

Fall in Timber Prices Has Been Steady in Last Decade

British Columbia logging operators had "not enjoyed any bed of roses" in the last ten years, but had been met with declining log prices and more difficult conditions of operation, R. V. Stuart, secretary of the British Columbia Loggers, told the Forestry committee of the Legislature yesterday.

Mr. Stuart said selective logging might be applied in particular instances in British Columbia, but that its general application did not appear likely. Loggers now were working from one to ten miles farther back in the bush than in 1924, and had not been able to maintain level production, he said.

TIMBER PRICES

Quoting log prices over the last decade, Mr. Stuart said Douglas fir logs had dropped from $16.80 per thousand feet, to $10.98 since 1924; cedar logs dropped from $18.57 to $21.11 per thousand feet; hemlock decreased from $11.41 to $8.22 per thousand feet; and the general average of all logs fell from $16.68 to $10.12 per thousand feet, on the same basis.

Tracing labor costs, Mr. Stuart said signalmen paid $4 a day in 1924, now received $3.20; firemen had $4 and now got $3.20; boommen once at $5, now received $3.75; 35.00 of technical helpers had moved in proportion; all subject to minimum wage orders.

Selective logging had yet to prove its worth in a general sense, and while possible on selected stands, would prove unavailing on rough, hilly and broken ground where most of the timber grew, he concluded.

H. J. Vogel, speaking of selective logging, gave it as his view that the new method would be found applicable to 90 per cent of accessible timber in the province. Under the existing high-lead system, every tree from ten to seventy-five years of age was destroyed on a stand, he declared.

POLICE URGE RESTORATION

Ask Commissioners for Partial Return of Fifteen per Cent Wage Cut

Following the example of the firemen, the city police department at the police commission meeting yesterday applied for partial restoration of their 15 per cent salary cuts. In this regard, the men had the support of Chief of Police Thomas Heatley, who recommended as follows:

"There is little doubt that the time has now arrived when the honorary board should take some action with regard to the restoration of at least a part of the salaries of the members of the department deducted in 1931 and 1932. Statistics show very plainly an increase in the cost of living, prices of many commodities having gone up since 1932.

Reports continue to come in of the restoration of salary cuts throughout Canada, in private businesses, public utilities, civil service, etc., and in some cases in Victoria firms which cut salaries after the city have already restored a part and have promised a complete restoration in 1936.

"Members of the police department feel they have a good argument towards some action being taken by reason of the fact that the average monthly salary of this department is $10 below the average salary of constables on outside departments and the Provincial Police.

"I most strongly recommend that the board take into serious consideration of, at least, a partial restoration of salary deductions."

Mayor David Leeming explained that, in his opinion, it would be impossible to make any wage restoration this year.

THE PROVINCIAL BUDGET

British Columbia's budget for 1935-1936 is marked by pleasant reflections and great expectations. In times like the present the most comforting thought is that there is to be no additional taxation for the coming fiscal year. Another pleasant thought is that there are evidences of revival in both the lumber and mining industries as indicated by larger revenues accruing to the Government from these sources. In all the revenues of the Province have been increasing at the rate of $180,000 a month during the present fiscal year. The budget of 1934-1935 will be balanced without taking into account expenditures on unemployment relief and moneys which failed to be placed to sinking fund accounts. The latter accounts at the end of the current fiscal year will be $5,644,000 short. The Province's gross debt has risen to $169,902,872 and the net debt is $137,951,039.

The great expectations which the budget portends is the possibility of obtaining from the Dominion Government certain sources of taxation enjoyed by the latter. The Province wants the exclusive right to levy income tax, a right that it should enjoy under the terms of the British North America Act. The Province, too, is quite legitimate in its claim for the right to levy a gold tax. The sales tax, which is also sought, if handed over to British Columbia would be a concession on the part of the Federal authority. The expectations that these taxes can be secured and the levying of them enjoyed as a sole right by the Province means that they would have to be given as a specific right to all the Provinces. That would mean, of course, a sacrifice of income by the Dominion Government of well over $50,000,000 a year.

Mr. John Hart has very wisely estimated on the basis of a balanced budget for 1935-1936. The total of revenues that he expects is $22,493,891 and the total expenditures provided for are $22,384,303. These anticipations are exclusive, as during the current year, of the sums of money required for unemployment relief and sinking fund requirements. In order to cut down the interest charges on its capital liabilities a conversion plan is being projected which will involve some $127,101,575 of the Province's debt from the present rates of interest to 3 per cent through a new issue of thirty-year debentures. It goes without saying that all the issues affected by this conversion plan will have reached maturity before the process is undertaken.

The relief for municipalities by the provision of sources of taxation now enjoyed by the Province will not be forthcoming until there is readjustment of taxation sources as between the Province and the Dominion. Mr. Hart anticipates there will be a conference with Ottawa on the latter phase of the taxation problem during the coming Spring. The holding of such a conference, however, may well be postponed if there is a decision to call an early Federal election. The Province while not yet being in a position to carry out to the full its pre-election slogan of "work and wages," is able to note that the numbers on relief in December last were 14.1 per cent less than in the corresponding month of 1933. This is an indication of a betterment in conditions, as is the fact that the ordinary revenues of the Province are showing a progressive increase during recent months. That increase is expected to be maintained, judging by the revenues anticipated and the increased expenditures provided for during the coming fiscal year.

This may be said for Mr. Hart that he has prepared his budget in a business-like way and has presented a clear picture of the finances of the Province. He was lucidly itself in his pronouncement. There will be many who will take issue with the expenditures forecast. No one will doubt the wisdom of the conversion scheme which Mr. Hart has in view. Some believe that in a Province where population increase has been very slow in recent years there should be no need of increases in departmental estimates and that the ruling practice of administration ought to be economy in every direction. It is all a question of theories affecting the best methods of winning through a period of depression.

LOOSE WRITING

Too large a percentage of correspondents of the newspapers, and by these we mean letter writers, take no trouble in revising, recasting and rearranging their contributions to the press. As often as not it is the manner in which a letter is written, the slovenliness that goes into its composition, that prevents its publication. There are too many writers who are of the opinion that any sort of letter, so long as it makes a point, or a complaint, is good enough for the press. What they forget is that newspapers have troubles enough without entering into the task of re-writing correspondence. There is no newspaper that is not in constant conflict with its subscribers because letters are not published. It is a pity that writers will not observe that common rule of courtesy by putting their letters into such shape that they can be published.

Sometimes we think that the present-day looseness in letter-writing is a criticism of the methods that prevail in teaching English. That is the idea of Mr. W. W. McKechnie, the Permanent Secretary of the Scottish Education Department, and it is one that can be sustained in any newspaper office. He says there is looseness about the writing of both children and grown-ups. Both seem to plunge into sentences without knowing how they are going to end or how their context with other sentences is to be maintained. In a letter every sentence is not expected to be well finished or polished off in the style of an expert writer. A letter to a newspaper, however, is to be read as a part of the paper as a whole, and therefore must follow a certain standard. It is a standard which is not aimed at by many writers who simply will not take the pains to clarify their thoughts when putting them in writing. It would seem, therefore, that unless there is the faculty of writing easily and smoothly at the first attempt, letters intended for publication should be revised, recast and rearranged. Dr. McKechnie says: "We hear of grown-ups taking lessons in putting, bridge, badminton, dancing. Why not refresher courses in English composition for those who are going off their style?"

A "FIFTH GOSPEL"

What is described as the earliest bit of Christian writing has come from the Egyptian sands and is now in possession of the British Museum. It is said to possess an interest deeper even than that of the Codex Sinaiticus. It is composed of tiny fragments of papyrus believed to be part of a hitherto unknown Gospel written 1800 years ago. There are two leaves, both imperfect, and the fragment of another leaf. The sides of each leaf contain writing in the fine flowing Greek script clear enough to read. The page that is most damaged appears to be the page which has no parallel in the Bible. It deals with an episode on the banks of the Jordan. The script shows that Jesus astonished His hearers by asking a "strange question." What that question was remains a mystery, because the fragment containing it is missing. One page has passages with a striking resemblance to passages in the Gospel of St. John, and with but slight differences to the story told there.

The papyrus is described as of deep brown with age and very brittle. The Museum authorities hope there may be a possibility of finding further sections. The discovery already has set in motion a search among old Greek manuscripts. Collectors all over the world have been notified to be on the look-out for any possible key to the authorship of the new and "yet markedly traditional" account of the ministry of Christ. The discovery has been called the Fifth Gospel, and there is speculation as to whether the evangelist who wrote it used John for his Gospel or if John used him. The fragments of papyrus bring together in one passage in almost identical language some sentences which occur in the Gospel of St. John, but occur at intervals separated by four chapters. A full text of the fragments will be published shortly.

ABERDEEN'S LOAN

Aberdeen in Scotland, perhaps due to the shrewdness of its inhabitants, is one of those cities that has escaped the morass of debt into which so many municipalities have fallen because of over-optimism about their futures. A few weeks ago Aberdeen placed on the market an issue of $5,000,000 at 3 per cent. It was able to announce in launching this loan that the taxes in Aberdeen are lower than those of Glasgow, Edinburgh and Dundee, and that its public debt per capita is also lower. The issue was an overwhelming success. Within two days $150,000,000 had been offered, or thirty times the amount wanted. Low taxes and a small municipal debt are the surest ways of inspiring public confidence in the finances of any community. The example of Aberdeen's loan is a striking one in these days.

THE RULE OF THE ROAD

You may have laws and by-laws and the rest, and become besotted in every street, and motorists may pass a stringent test. To prove their education is complete; Our legislators all may do their best. For everything that walks upon two feet; Yet the chief item in the highway code is, "Look both ways before you cross the road!" Not that the speeding motorist should be allowed to travel at a reckless rate. While others take responsibility. If they should meet a somewhat messy fate; But, though he languish in captivity, That, for the victim, comes a trifling late. The vital item in the highway code is, "Look both ways before you cross the road!" —Touchstone, In The Morning Post.

Some are so very studious of learning what was done by the ancients that they know not how to live with the moderns.—William Penn.

When there is much pretension, much has been borrowed; nature never pretends.—Lavater.

Blessings ever wait on virtuous deeds, and though a late, a sure reward succeeds.—Congreve.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Such is the state of life that none are happy but by the anticipation of change. The change itself is nothing; but when we have made it the next wish is to change again.—Dr. Johnson.

Many Christians are like chessmen—very pleasant but, enclosed in very little brains, they need various dealings of Nature and her grip of frost before the kernel is disclosed.—Horace Smith.

What a world! If we are to believe all that is printed in the papers, this poor old world is not only a scene of strife and sorrow; it is facing one crisis after another. An eminent ecclesiastic says the church is facing the greatest crisis in its history—and the church has a long history and has had its many ups and downs. The church we always have regarded as the most conservative of all our great institutions; but all things are subject to change. It may be that the courts of the church like some of the conferences reported in the papers, are clearing houses for young and progressive ideas. Possibly some of the ministers of the church have adopted those radical ideas and have decided to come out in the world, finding the courts of the church too narrow for growth, and preach the new economic gospel to the many who will listen to their gladly.

Perhaps that is why so many pulpits have been converted into political platforms and why so many parsons, ministers, and even some priests, have become politicians. Has the divine mission of the church failed, and must the salvation of the poor old world be achieved through secular agencies? We do not know. We merely call attention to certain facts or statements which occur in the Gospel of St. John, but occur at intervals separated by four chapters. A full text of the fragments will be published shortly.

It further seems to us that all the world has become a political and economic stage and that the rising of the curtain reveals it as a clearing house for new ideas. Whether the new ideas are better than the old ideas we do not know. No one knows. Only the future can determine. On the legislative stage across the Bay the atmosphere is a breeding place for new and strange ideas. That atmosphere is as fertile of new and strange ideas as the physical atmosphere in Victoria at the present time is of insects. A confirmed reactionary might say that a spray could be used with good effect upon this form of life, but we dare not say that, for some of the lower forms of life are beneficial to what we are pleased to consider the highest form of physical life. The world cannot go backward—and it must go forward, even if we are not quite sure where it is going.

We might go on and point out that strange things are happening at Ottawa and stranger things at Toronto, but must confine our observations for the present to the situation in British Columbia; and that brings us back again to the strange utterances of Mr. Gerry McGeer. Someone has sent us a copy of The Vancouver Financial News, in which we have found the following comments upon the new political comet of a contemporary of this reservoir of new ideas:

Mayor G. C. McGeer, of Vancouver, is reported on no worse authority than his own statement, may bring into existence in Vancouver a municipal bank which would make the city independent financially. Birmingham and Glasgow are cited as first class examples of cities that dared to take such a step. We hasten to commend the project. It must be obvious that Mr. McGeer's policies in office are rapidly making the position of bankers to the city one that no established banks will care to occupy, so that it becomes more or less logical for Mr. McGeer, who is a banking authority, to do his own banking.

Only two obstacles seem to present themselves at this juncture. One is that not many people will wish to deposit money in the bank without interest, and those who stipulate that they must be paid interest will not rejoice in the knowledge that the father of the bank, Mr. McGeer, regards them as usurers and Shylocks, eager to make a foul profit out of their fellow citizens, the taxpayers who own the bank.

The other difficulty is that much of the attraction of founding such an institution is removed by reason of the existence of the new central bank for the municipal bank in Vancouver would be denied the right of note issue, and this removes all possibility of printing legal tender with the fine countenance of Gerry McGeer upon it.

As against these slight handicaps, however, consider the work a municipal bank might do. In the first place, it would cause Mr. McGeer to become a Conservative, for no banker in the world's history, except a few thousands in the United States who are now broke, were ever what you would call Liberal.

Becoming Conservative, Mayor McGeer would have little or nothing to say for publication—a mighty consideration—and what he did say would be designed to inspire confidence in Vancouver and its ability to pay.

Having inspired this confidence, Mr. McGeer might gradually lure a substantial amount of small savings into the bank. That, of course, would be difficult, and time would be needed to accomplish it, for most people would have to forget that the mayor, in Spokane, made the statement that it would be fine with him if the administration's policies drove the city's bonds down to half price, for then the city might buy them back at half price and save that much money for the taxpayers, a brand of business morality not exactly appealing to people who save money.

Having finally built up a good amount of cash on deposit, however, Mr. McGeer could pay off all bonded indebtedness by utilizing deposits, and then close the bank.

True, it would catch the depositors, but they could be given tax receipts, reverted properties, scrip, or something like that. They might even be paid with Dominion notes when Mr. McGeer is Premier of Canada.

The main thing is to have confidence in Mr. McGeer, for he knows all the answers about banking, finance, money, credit and politics—and he had $4,000 majority.

HIGH SCHOOL TO HAVE GYM NIGHT

Students to Give Display Tonight and Tomorrow Night—Basketball Games Scheduled

The Victoria High School gymnasium display will be ushered in this evening, with a distinctively new and attractive student programme. Coaches Mona Miller and W. A. Roper have been working overtime during the past few weeks in order to assure the success of the performance. The programme in its entirety will be repeated Saturday evening.

The basketball fans will not be disappointed, for two student basketball teams will be seen in action on both nights.

Miss Nancy Ferguson, girls' dancing teacher, has a new group of folk dances for presentation. Boys and girls mixed drills will be a big feature, while gymnastical work by both groups will enhance the night's display. The curtain raiser will be apparatus work by the boys, on the parallel bars, box-horse and horizontal bar. This will be followed by a special folk dancing number entitled "Tarentella." A girls' skipping drill will continue the programme.

"A Dashing White Sergeant" dance and a sixteen-some reel, accompanied by Pipe Major Donald Cameron on the bagpipes, will bring Scotland into the limelight.

Physical drill by boys, dumb-bell and wand drills by girls, Indian club swinging, tumbling, and several waltz dances by the girls, will comprise the main part of the evening's programme. The Victoria High School orchestra, conducted by Alfred Prescott, will be on hand.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Frederick Brown, for the last twenty-seven years postmaster at Union Bay, passed away at that place last Tuesday. He was a former resident of Victoria and prior to becoming postmaster was a dispatcher on the E. & N. Railway. He was well known on Vancouver Island. The funeral is to be held tomorrow afternoon at Vancouver.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—Prevent Cutting—No Salves

When sore and painful Piles distress and upset you, and salves give insufficient or only temporary help, and wish is to avoid operation; isn't it best to at once try HEM-ROID—the internal remedy for piles? Dr. J. S. Leonard was convinced early in his career that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find a remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

Pile sufferers everywhere are benefiting by Dr. Leonard's internal treatment, so why doubt or delay longer when HEM-ROID was a discoverer when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores and other good druggists say: "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your pile misery or money-back." ## Friendly Help Gives Detailed Account of Welfare Work in City

New Committee Is Selected to Carry on Assistance to Needy Citizens—More Funds Will Be Needed This Month

FRIENDLY Help Welfare Association now has only $7,003.18 in the treasury, sufficient for charitable work up to the end of the month, and must conduct another campaign within the next few weeks. This was brought out by N. F. Ferris, treasurer, during the annual meeting of the association held last evening in C.C.F. Hall.

During 1934 the association handled $36,646.60 from contributors. Of this sum, $29,643.52 has been spent on food, clothing, groceries, salaries and office administration. Figures reveal that it cost $9,856.30 to administer $19,787.22 to needy persons.

Receipts from Sunshine Camp, near Spoke, were $2,291.38, most of which was collected by Fred Landsberg. Of this sum, $1,326.05 was spent, leaving a balance of $965.33 to carry on the camp this year. Camp and equipment are valued at approximately $10,000.

COMMITTEE NAMED

The following committee was elected to carry on business of the association: F. E. Winslow, Captain W. Hobart Molson, Mrs. Forbes Sayward-Wilson, Rev. Father F. A. Albury, Lady Barnard, Miss Fraser, John Goldie, Fred Landsberg, Comptroller C. H. R. Slingsby, W. T. Strath, L. Woodhouse, Rowan McKenzie, Mrs. Jardine, Alan McKill, E. W. McMullen, Miss Frances Fitzgibbon and Mrs. C. F. Armstrong. President, vice-president and other officers will be chosen from this committee.

Clothing was supplied during the year to 1,495 adults and 1,277 children. Of these, 710 were on city relief. Clothing included 1,508 pairs of new boots and shoes, 1,845 pieces of girls' and women's underwear, 1,107 pieces of men's and boys' underwear, 3,037 pairs of socks and stockings, 958 pairs of men's and boys' pants, 756 men's and boys' shirts, 227 children's sweaters, 855 yards of flannel, 767 yards of print, 223 yards of broadcloth, 125 pairs of towels and 90 pairs of sheets.

WOMEN'S WORKROOM

Women's Workroom made 14 coats, 45 dresses and rompers, 74 pairs of pants, 84 suits of underwear, 61 aprons, 38 blouses and shirts, 61 skirts, 32 nightgowns, 47 suits of pajamas, 18 sweaters, 5 quilts, 62 pairs of pillowcases and 108 pairs of sheets. Articles of clothing cleaned totaled 1,422; 1,201 pounds of washing was done and 1,762 pairs of shoes repaired. During the year 917 families, comprising 3,500 individuals, received some form of service. Of these, 471 were new cases, the remainder having also been assisted in 1933.

F. E. Winslow, past president of the Friendly Help Welfare Association, explained in his annual report that the staff now consists of a general secretary, four visitors, one bookkeeper and two clerks, as against a staff of twelve formerly employed.

EDUCATING PUBLIC

"We are trying to educate the public to understand that proper social service work is as beneficial to the less fortunate members of a community as food and clothing," said Mr. Winslow. "It would be a very great help to this association if you would all try to realize that material help alone is not sufficient in many cases, and that assistance, in re-planning a home for those who are incapable of doing so for themselves, is at times very necessary and goes a long way towards building up a self-respecting community."

"Our 1934 campaign had for its object the collection of $35,000 for Victoria, but as a matter of fact total subscriptions were just over $25,000. Undoubtedly we will have to go to the public again for support, if we are going to fulfill our duty as citizens and feed and clothe the destitute." Mr. Winslow mentioned that of the 6,000 persons written to for assistance, only 600 or 10 per cent responded. He closed by expressing his appreciation and thanks to all the voluntary workers and the medical profession for their co-operation.

Miss Elizabeth Grubb, general secretary of the Friendly Help Welfare Association, said that it was impossible to meet all needs of families with used clothing contributed, and that many new articles had to be bought.

FAMILY DEPARTMENT

"In the family department, 56 per cent of the cases came to us definitely for an economic need, 24 per cent for a health need and 8 per cent for a personality difficulty," Miss Grubb stated in reviewing work carried out during the year.

"Take the case of little Ann as an example," said Miss Grubb. "When she was born a few months ago, her father was serving a jail sentence. Ever since the marriage of her parents, which had taken place only a short time before, Ann's mother had drifted between a housekeeping room with her husband and the home of her parents. In neither place was she given a welcome, and when her baby arrived this young mother was so weakened and disheartened that she made no effort to give Ann the love and care every baby needs. Ann remained always in the house, and grew weak and thin until a visiting doctor reported to the city health officer that Ann must have more nourishment.

"Ann's mother was not getting relief from the city, so the Friendly Help Welfare Association was called in. A visitor went to the house, only to be met by complete indifference. It was an easy thing to supply all Ann's material needs, but what baby will thrive without loving care?" asked Miss Grubb.

"Today, through the association's work, Ann is a pretty attractive baby, the centre of attraction in her grandparents' house. Her father is out of jail and is busy getting a home together for his wife and little daughter," Miss Grubb concluded. The speaker gave several other incidents dealing with the personal side of welfare work.

Echoes From The Gallery

Vancouver financial affairs are simmering in Legislative corridors, with prospect of a full discussion in the House shortly. Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., laid detailed figures before the private bills committee this week, and will follow this with a special meeting with Vancouver members of the Legislature, timed for today. Premier Pattullo declined yesterday to make any comment on proceedings before the committee.

The Vancouver City Council has entered formal protest, by resolution, against any change in the Government Liquor Act to give wines and beer in hotels and restaurants. The council said the objection was taken on moral grounds, and sent a copy of the resolution directly to the Government here.

The budget debate was opened yesterday by Rev. Robert Connell, Leader of the Opposition, who described the budget as a financial war and did not reply to it at all. Mr. Connell dealt with C.C.F. aims and policies, saying at one point that the party was against secession but in favor of constitutional change under the B.N.A. Act. Only drastic change in the constitution could be of any service to the country now, he concluded.

Clive Plante (Independent, Peace River) followed the Leader of the Opposition in the debate. He praised the budget and the Government handsomely; read the first member for Vancouver-Burrard a lesson on how Vancouver should be run by its chief magistrate, and advocated extension of 150 miles of railroad from Hines Creek, Alta., along the north side of the Peace River into British Columbia. Norman W. Whitaker adjourned debate for the day.

Nine new bills were brought down by the Government; the Forest Act was read a third time, and seven other measures received second reading without objection or change. The House adjourned at 4:08 p.m., until 2:30 p.m. today, when the budget debate will be resumed.

No Naval Holiday In Japan's Plans

TOKIO, March 1 (AP).—Reports published abroad that Japan is considering a three-year "naval holiday," were said in official circles today, to be pure "fabrication." No such proposal has been made to Japan, it was said, and she has no intention of making such a proposition to other powers.

IS ENAMORED OF COUNTRY

Wanderer With Camera Says Island and Coast Full of Beauty

Captain Gordon Clements, or as he is better known throughout the United States as "The Man With the Dog," being accompanied by a large Alsatian wherever he goes, is a restless personage; and in pursuit of adventure, armed with moving picture and still cameras, has spent the greater part of the last twelve months between Victoria and Icy Strait, Alaska.

Leaving his home in Los Angeles last May, he went to Ketchikan, from which place he traveled the northern waterways on fishing boats and in Indian canoes, in pursuit of subjects for his camera; but finding the former method of getting from place to place too expensive, he decided to visit Prince Rupert, where he purchased a twenty-four-foot boat from a cannery, and since that time has been able to move at his own convenience, stopping where he saw fit and going where fancy called.

Coming down the coast of British Columbia, he whittled away a lot of time traversing the long inlets which pierce the mountain chains for great distances inland, with the result that he can now talk of nothing else but the wonderful aspect of natural beauties to be seen everywhere between Prince Rupert and the southern end of Vancouver Island.

IS NO STRANGER

Captain Clements is no stranger to British Columbia, he having spent considerable time some years ago cruising among the Gulf Islands, which he claims have a charm all their own. If such an area was situated within reasonable distance of the centres of population in the United States, it would not be long before its merits would be fully capitalized, he contends.

The rover talked at some length on the almost unanimous desire of his people for travel and the kind of thing which appeals to them most strongly. He stated that Vancouver Island in particular and British Columbia generally, had everything to attract them. There were splendid opportunities for the development of a great tourist travel. He instanced methods employed in places like the Yosemite National Park, where, around bonfires at night, the romance and history of the West was told by colorful speakers. He thought that an Indian village, erected near Victoria, would be a strong attraction; a village where Indians might be employed making curios for sale, where different ceremonial dances could be staged, and where white tale-tellers, conversant with Indian lore and the early history of the country, could hold forth and entertain visitors.

ANNUAL POTLACH
 An annual potlach during the tourist season would be a big drawing card, and Indian canoe races would undoubtedly prove popular. "Americans eat that kind of thing up," he said. "Much more along the same lines for the entertainment of tourists was suggested by this most enthusiastic booster for what British Columbia has to offer the tourist from south of the boundary line."

Quest for pictures and material for lectures comprised the real purpose for Captain Clements' trip north. He has traveled much in South America, the South Seas and the East Indies. Between times he goes on lecture tours in his own van, which is thoroughly equipped with moving picture paraphernalia and loud speakers. There were times, he stated, when he had exhibited pictures and lectured about them to several thousand people. The moving picture shows at a glance what you are describing, he says, and is the very best medium for advertising and selling scenery.

He stayed away so long from California, his wife made a trip to visit him. Her arrival necessitated building a cabin on the boat. Together they intend to spend some time cruising through the Gulf Islands before going South again.

John H. Frampton Is Laid at Rest

Many friends attended the funeral service yesterday afternoon for the late John Henry Frampton, who passed away on February 26 at his residence, 2572 Belmont Avenue. Dr. Clem Davies conducted the service, during which the hymns, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Peace, Perfect Peace," were sung by the congregation. Mrs. Milne sang a solo, "My Mother's Prayer."

CONCLUDES TRIAL ON ACCIDENT LIABILITY

At the conclusion of the taking of evidence in the County Court yesterday in the action of Jones et al. vs. White et al., and in Whitty vs. Jones and White, judgment was given by Judge P. S. Each of the drivers held the other responsible for the accident. The car driven by the defendant, Mr. White, was owned by Mr. Whitty, who sought to recover for damage done, irrespective of who was at fault.

For the convenience of the court, the actions were tried together and damages were assessed against Miss Jones, to the amount of $483, in favor of the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. W. White, and $176 in favor of Mr. Whitty. F. C. Elliott appeared for the plaintiff Whitty et al., and Roy Manzer for Miss Jones.

"Samson" Performed By Well Balanced Metropolitan Choir

Handel's Oratorio Given Admirable Reading Under Frank Tupman's Direction—Soloists Take Roles With Intelligence

TOGETHER with most other parts of the world, Victoria is this season sharing the benefits of the sentiment favoring commemoration of the two hundred and fiftieth birthday of Handel. Last December two very fine choirs presented Handel's "Messiah" in the city, and last evening the augmented Metropolitan Church choir gave a really magnificent reading of the old master's other greatest oratorio, "Samson."

Musically this work is splendidly the air. "Why Does the God of Israel Sleep," a highly competent reading of a very exacting number. Norah Jones brought beautiful devotional feeling to her numbers as Michah, her special numbers being "Return, Return, O God of Hosts," "Here Lies the Proof," and "Ye Sons of Israel." All these had a reflective and gentle character, and benefited by the clarity of the singer's diction. Nice feeling, exemplary diction, and very fine vocal technique lay behind Dr. John's readings of the solos assigned to him as Manoah: "Thy Glorious Deeds," a typical Handelian air, with long runs which make great demands on the singer's vocal control; "How Willing My Fatherland Love," made with leisurely dignity; and with a chorus of contralto voices, "Glorious Hero," showing a fine range in the lower part of the voice.

Although it is doubtful if "Samson" is as familiar to Victoria audiences as "The Messiah," this work, like its twin (they were both given at Covent Garden the same year, 1743), has its traditional rendering. Consequently most listeners attend with a certain standard of comparison, and judging by the after-comment last evening all expectations were more than met. Certainly the work could not have been approached in a better spirit, with every reference to the Biblical origin of the story, and at the same time a lively sense of the dramatic elements. Everywhere the marks of the most careful preparation were apparent in the clean-cut attack, broad phrasing, and generally polished effects.

The choir was an admirably balanced ensemble when singing as a whole. The soprano and bass quality was particularly pleasing, as far as the actual character of the voices was concerned. The former had a bright flexible, youthful tone, and sang with a freshness and animation that was extraordinary appealing. Every section, however, was alert and worked with a will.

IN THREE PARTS
The work is cast in three parts. Albert Sullivan, chairman of the music committee, gave a little introductory outline of the poem, the first part of which records the story of Samson, blind, and captive to the Philistines, being released from his toil by a festival in honor of Dagon, their God; the second representing Michah and the Israelites calling upon God to have pity on Samson, while Harapha and the Philistines call upon Dagon, after which they jointly, but in opposition to each other, celebrate the majesty, power, and supremacy of their respective deities; and part three dealing with Samson's invitation to Harapha to attend the feast of the Philistines, and the pulling down of the temple upon himself and his enemies.

The instrumental overture, played by organ and piano, with Edward Parsons and Maquinn Daniels, both splendidly sound musicians, at the respective instruments, is a fine thing and suggests the massive scale in which the whole work is cast.

THE CHORUSES
Possessing about thirty male voices, the choir was able to make a strong and impressive number of the choruses of the priests of Dagon, "Awake the Trumpet," and its repetition in the very early part of the work. Among the other magnificent numbers for the choir was "O First Created Beam," in which the men's voices first take up the subject, to be followed by the women's voices. This was given noble treatment. "Then Shall They Know," one of the choruses of Israelites, was not able for the confidence with which the choir responded to the beat and the crisp attack, and this section concludes with "Round About the Starry Throne."

In Part II, "To Dust His Glory They Would Tread" had charming restraint of treatment, and there was moving dignity of style in "Hear Jacob's God." The chorus of Philistines, "To Song and Dance," was blithe, and taken at a smart tempo, which in no wise interfered with the diction. This leads, almost without interruption, to the double chorus, "Fixed in His Everlasting Seat," showing the utmost nicety of preparation. Part III there is almost excitement in the mood of the chorus "With Thunder Armed," which works into a more awed and subdued expression. Clear statement of style marked the chorus of Israelites, "The Holy One of Israel," and the remaining choruses are "To Fame Immortal Go," in which the soprano did a fine bit of work in their reiterated "Praise Him"; the Philistines' chorus, "Great Dagon Has Subdued Our God," sung in triumphant spirit; the exclamatory "O Mercy" of the Sinfonia; "Weep Israel, Weep" and "Glorious Hero," the former conveying a note of profound sadness, and the latter "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite," which brings the work to its grand conclusion. Throughout, Mr. Tupman had easy control of the choir, exercising nice restraint without in any sense hampering the freedom of tone.

THE SOLOISTS
This work calls for an unusual number of soloists, and in this presentation the choice was excellent. All sang with commendable confidence and authority. Llewellyn Jones, who took the part of Samson, has a voice of dramatic power which was most effective in the more declamatory type of work, although, very effective in such a deeply touching thing as "Total Eclipse," and the difficult "Thus When the Sun," which he sang with fine intelligence and sympathy, with unhurried delivery. A certain pointillist character was given to Recent finalists in the Leeming Cup series, Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt soccer elevens will hold the football spotlight Saturday afternoon when they meet in the final game of the twin football ball at the Royal Athletic Park at 4 o'clock. Victoria West, second place elevens, will meet in the curtain raiser at 2:30 o'clock.

With a clear six-point lead over the greenshirts, Saanich Thistles are practically assured of lifting the league championship. However, with one game in hand, the Victoria West squad has a mathematical chance of nosing out the lads bearing the suburban moniker.

WEST'S MEET CITY
Victoria West and the City elevens should give the fans some good football when they meet in the initial match on the afternoon's programme, and while the boys will be favored to win, the City elevens should provide plenty of stiff opposition.

Esquimalt dropped a 3-2 verdict to the Saanich Thistles last week in the final of the Leeming Cup series, but have visions of reversing this decision when the clubs meet tomorrow afternoon.

Victory for the dockers and the greenshirts will draw the leading clubs a little closer together, and make the naming of the champions a matter of conjecture.

Saanich Thistles and James Island second division elevens will open the Combination Cup series when they clash in a first round match at Heywood Avenue. The kick-off is set for 2:30 o'clock.

Victoria West and Victoria City will round out the soccer programme when they meet at Bulfinch Park in a postponed league match, scheduled to start at 2:45 o'clock.

LINE-UPS
Some of the teams follow:

Provincial Council To Be Received by Cabinet Ministers

To Discuss Sale of Liquor, Help for Women Prisoners, Question of Checking Tuberculosis and Other Matters of Special Interest

A DELEGATION of officers of the Provincial Council of Women, and accredited delegates, who have been attending the annual meeting of the council held at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday, with the president, Mrs. C. A. Bagley, as presiding officer, will meet the Cabinet Ministers at the Parliament Buildings, this morning, to present the following resolutions:

First, "Resolved, that the Provincial Council of Women urge the Provincial Government that transportation be provided for those leaving Oakalla for their domicile, or point of arrest, at the discretion of the Attorney-General."

Second, "Whereas there are at times organized or unorganized efforts put forth to extend the facilities for the sale of alcoholic liquors, be it resolved that we, the Provincial Council of Women go on record as opposing any proposal such as the serving of beer and wine with meals in restaurants and hotels, which would tend to increase the consumption of alcoholic beverages within our province."

CHECK TUBERCULOSIS
The third resolution, dealing with tuberculosis, is as follows: "Resolved, that owing to the rapid and alarming increase in tuberculosis in British Columbia, the Government be urged to take whatever steps may be deemed best to check and combat the spread of the disease."

During the evening session, the president, Mrs. Bagley, and officers, were re-elected by acclamation as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, of Victoria, who succeeds Miss Crease; immediate past president, Mrs. D. J. MacLachlan, Vancouver; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. W. Murray; recording secretary, Miss E. Stevens.

In her annual address, the president made reference to the renewed activity of the Chilliwack Council which now has fourteen affiliations, and commented upon the good work done there during the recent serious conditions caused by storms and floods. She welcomed Mrs. Spofford as the new vice-president, and expressed her appreciation of the courteous hearing given the delegation, which waited upon the Cabinet Ministers during the last annual meeting, and also of the meeting to be held this morning. Mrs. C. W. Murray read the corresponding secretary's report and Miss Stevens read the financial statement. Thanks to these officers was expressed by Mrs. Bertha Parsons, on behalf of the delegates.

REPORTS READ
Then followed the reports of the local councils. Mrs. Fitzwater, of Kamloops, reporting a most successful year in that centre; Mrs. F. W. Haggman read the New Westminster report; Miss Stevens, the report of the North Vancouver Council, which was experiencing difficult times; Mrs. Rolston, of Vancouver, read a most comprehensive report of the work being done there, the council being now in its fortieth year; and Mrs. Ross read the report of the Victoria Council.

PARENTAL HOME
A resolution regarding the establishing of a parental school for the education and training of the younger "incorrigible" and "problem" child was passed unanimously during the afternoon session. The resolution submitted by the Vancouver Local Council read as follows: "Resolved, that we urge the Provincial Government to establish a parental school for the education and training of the younger "incorrigible" and "problem" children and to segregate them from the older delinquents in the Industrial Home and School, and to amend these acts to permit the commitment of such children for such term as may seem desirable; that we ask the Provincial Government to amend the Boys' Industrial School and the Girls' Industrial Home Acts to permit the establishment of a division for such parental schools, and further, to amend these acts so as to provide that no child may be transferred from children's aid to industrial schools or homes; (b) or from industrial schools and homes to the common jail without their parents and guardians being heard on their own behalf."

Two other resolutions were read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. W. Murray, to be forwarded to the local councils for their considerations.

The Camp River Women's Institute wished "to recommend that the regulations governing the old-age pensions be reconsidered to deal more fairly with the case of persons resident in Canada for many more than the required number of years, and who became disqualified through absence from the Dominion; we would suggest that where the time of absence is deducted from the time of residence and there still remain twenty years that the applicant be permitted to qualify, all other conditions being complied with." The foregoing recommendation was endorsed by the Chilliwack Council, arising from a positive case being investigated.

PUBLIC WELFARE WORK
The third resolution, which will be sent out to the local councils, reads as follows: "Whereas the governments are responsible for the well-being of the people; whereas this responsibility is being assumed, in increasing measure, in relation to health, mental incapacity, delinquency, maternal needs, whereas present and future plans for all social services must be correlated, if they are to be each in its due place of importance, meeting the full economic and constructive programme of social welfare; be it resolved that the Government of British Columbia be urged to establish a portfolio of public welfare which will co-ordinate all the phases of social welfare work (mothers' pensions, child welfare, health and mental institutions, homes for delinquents, unemployment relief, etc.)."

MINISTER'S ADDRESS
More than usual interest was shown in the address given by Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, on the subject of "The Marketing Act," in which he outlined the work of the council.

The president also announced that the next meeting of the Provincial Council will be held in Chilliwack.

Mrs. Genge Withdraws As Regent

Mrs. L. A. Genge has retired after four years as regent of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E. Announcement was made by Mrs. Genge at the general meeting held at headquarters yesterday afternoon. She regretted having to take the step, but found it impossible to carry on for the present and expressed her appreciation of the splendid support she had received during her term in office by all the members.

The meeting was the largest during the year, all primary chapters being represented. Mrs. Genge presided during the business and nominations. It was decided to have the date of Alexandra Rose Day changed this year, and it was hoped it would be held during the week of the King's silver jubilee. The members will attend the Empire Day service and will take part.

A letter was received from the May 24 celebration committee requesting that several young members of the I.O.D.E. enter the contest for the May 24 queen. ## "THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

THE FADDIST MOTHER

Samuel Blythe has given diet faddists first rank among the insufferable bores that infest humanity, and is certain that they constitute one of the greatest of human afflictions.

The food faddist's cult is a negative one. It is based on "don'ts" instead of "dos." The "nos," "nevers" and "don'ts" of these pitiful representatives of the human race, if placed end to end, would reach from the garden spot where this is written to Halifax, Havana and back again. Youth already has an over-sufficiency of the negative "don'ts"; what they want and what is to their welfare are the "dos."

Mother, be a caloric crank or food faddist if you must. If it is in style, then I suppose you must, but don't foist these pernicious ideas on your children. What ideas you can, and with benefit, pass on to them are those to do with sanity, naturalness, and moderation. Sanity as opposed to scatter-brained cultist ideas; naturalness, the opposite to affectation and following the prevailing style of fads; and moderation in contrast to repulsion, or eating too much.

Fresh food, containing in approximate amounts the essential food elements, properly prepared, served attractively in a well ventilated room with a "sauce" of cheery, interesting conversation, in which the children take part, as far as possible, is the ideal.

$1500.00 IN CASH AWARDS

CONTEST OPEN TO RESIDENTS OF CANADA ONLY

1st prize $250.00
2nd prize $150.00
3rd prize $75.00
4th and 5th prizes $25.00 each
195 weekly prizes of $5.00 each (15 each week for 13 weeks)

This contest is for recipes containing MILK as one of the ingredients. The milk used may be of any type; ordinary or evaporated. Each entry must be accompanied by a label from a can of Nestlé's Milk and must include your name and address. Recipes will be judged on the basis of simplicity, palatability and food value.

You may submit as many different recipes as desired and win any number of $5.00 prizes as long as each recipe is accompanied by a Nestlé's Milk label. Enter each week's contest if you wish! Final contest closes May 11, 1935, and the five major prizes will then be awarded. Judges will be Miss Margaret Currie, Household Editor, Montreal Daily Star; Miss I. K. Paterson, Director of Domestic Science, Central Technical School, Toronto; and Miss Lottie Duncan, Director of Home Economics, University of Manitoba. Decisions of the judges will be final. Recipes will not be returned. Members of the Nestlé's organization and their families are not eligible. Send entries to CONTEST EDITOR, NESTLÉ'S MILK PRODUCTS (CANADA) LIMITED, METROPOLITAN BLDG., TORONTO.

YOU will note (in the recipe appearing at the left) that the fudge which wins the praise of Miss Sandford Smith's friends is made with Nestlé's Evaporated Milk. There is a definite reason why the use of Nestlé's improves fudge, as it does so many other foods and confections.

Because Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is itself so smooth, because the high proportion of butter-fat which it contains is broken up into such small particles and because it is always uniform in richness, you can make with Nestlé's a fudge which is more velvety, better flavoured, more delicious and creamy.

But this is only one of Nestlé's hundreds of uses in your kitchen. You will find that by using it you can make better cream sauces, soups, and pie-fillings. With it you can make richer, better-textured and lighter cakes. You can use it, too, in a wide variety of luscious, tempting desserts.

Nestlé's, you know, is just the purest of cow's milk with more than half the water removed and with absolutely nothing added! Because it is evaporated, Nestlé's is twice as rich as ordinary fluid milk and because it always has the same generous butter-fat content, it gives absolutely uniform results in cooking.

Decide now that you will try Nestlé's in your kitchen right away. All grocers have it. It is surprisingly low in price.

CITY FREE OF MAJOR CRIMES

Chief of Police T. Heatley Submits Annual Report to Commission

A year free of any major crimes was reported by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley to the police commission yesterday, when he submitted his annual report.

The chief's report on the general operation of the department is as follows:

"It is once again my great pleasure to report that we have come through the year without crime of a serious nature. A number of cases of petty house-breaking and shop-breaking have given the department a little trouble, but for these and several cases of retaining stolen property there have been twenty-five convictions in the city police court and three have been committed for trial in higher court.

SITUATION IMPROVED
"The unemployment situation appears to be greatly improved, and for that reason the department has not been called upon to such an extent as it was in 1932 and 1933. Except for a few well-known agitators, who I doubt would work if they were given the opportunity, I find the average unemployed persons honest, law-abiding and highly respectable citizens who are looking forward anxiously to work of any description in order that they may not have to rely altogether on city relief for their livelihood.

"I am pleased to report that every branch of the department is co-operating with each other and working together in complete harmony. May I again draw to the attention of the board the excellent co-operation we have received from the police departments of Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay, the British Columbia Provincial Police and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. These departments have all rendered us valuable assistance and the relations between them and this department are of the very best."

What Today Means

"FISCES"

If March 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a.m., from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m. and from 10:45 p.m. until midnight.

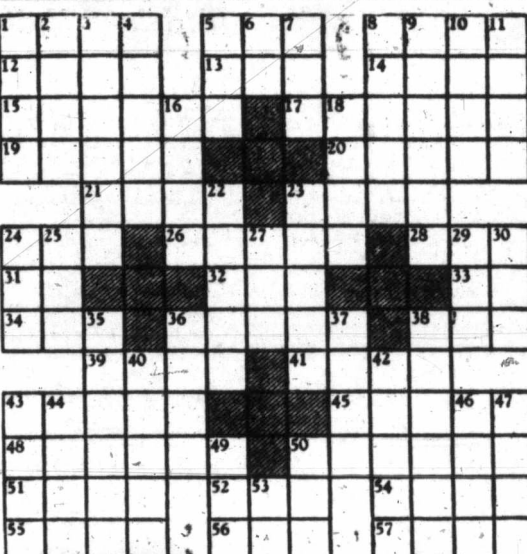

It may pay to be a good listener, rather than too talkative on this date. Be careful in social and business conversations that whatever you say cannot be misinterpreted, thus causing unintentional offence being taken by a very sensitive type of person. The average business executive will have plenty to absorb in his time on March 1, so brevity in telephone or personal calls should be your rule. Individual finances should be a whole as a decided improvement, as money from various sources will be widely distributed. Indiscriminate invitations of a social nature may lead to unpleasant complications, especially if someone else, at the last moment, will be called on to make the preparations for entertainment. Married and engaged couples, as well as seekers for mates in the matrimonial field, will display good judgment if they do not delay until the last minute to announce some plan of activity for the evening's diversion.

If a woman, and March 1 is your birthday, your ability to conceive original as well as artistic ideas, if commercialized, should not only result in money, but also in an enviable reputation. All you need to achieve success is sufficient ambition to spur you on to greater effort. The more friends you have, the better off you will be, so make it a point to be nice to everyone, regardless of class or creed. It is very important that you maintain a broad-minded attitude regarding the opinion of other people. You should make a very successful marriage, as a home should mean a great deal to you. Designing, illustrating, interior decorating, as well as needlework, are among some of the lines of activity in which you should have no difficulty to excel.

The child born on March 1, when it is about to blossom from juvenility into youth, will probably show a remarkable amount of mental development. It will possibly possess a very independent disposition, so it will respond with more readiness to persuasive methods, than if drastic ones are employed.

If a man, and March 1 is your natal day, be careful false pride does not act as a stumbling block on your road to success. The legal, medical, as well as educational professions, and journalism, have a great deal to offer a man of your capability.

Deafness
Headnoises, Earache
Catarrh—QUICKLY RELIEVED

These dreaded afflictions quickly respond to the Aurine method of treatment. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balsam can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M.D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Joseph Meredith of Ontario, Canada, writes, "I suffered for over 30 years, some times I was worse than others. I used only a half a bottle of Aurine, the headnoises disappeared and I could hear people talking clearly. I heard the choir in our church and the organ play for the first time in two years. I am recommending Aurine to every one."

No matter how stubborn your deafness, headnoises or earache trouble are, you must try Aurine. Aurine must do the work or you must try Aurine. Aurine Ear Balsam is for the leading drug stores everywhere. MADE IN CANADA.

The first call at Victoria by Fruit Express Line ships to load fresh fruit for Europe will be made by S. Oregon Express, March 12, B. W. Greer & Son, Ltd., announced.

Ms. Java, of the Danish East Asiatic Company, is at Ocean Falls loading paper for the Orient. B. L. Johnson, Walton & Co., Ltd., reported the next ship of the line, will be Ms. Europa, due at New Westminster March 16 for Europe.

The British Columbia coastwise steamer Princess Norah is due Saturday morning from Skagway.

Jimmy, in the second grade, came home in tears. "Teacher said the whole class was bad today, but she said I was the scurvy elephant."

Yet it seemed inconceivable to Jimmy's mother that any kind of behavior could inspire such an epithet, even from a thoroughly harassed teacher. Questioning brought repeated assertions that the teacher had really called Jimmy a scurvy elephant, and the mother naturally decided that a visit to the school was in order. That evening Jimmy's dad inquired about the visit to school. "Oh," the mother chuckled, "the class had been on a regular tear, and I guess Jimmy had been the instigator. Miss Chapman had said that he was the disturbing element."

SHIPPING HELD UP BY STORMS

West Coast Weather Hinders Movements of Small Craft—Fishermen Busy

TOPINO, Feb. 28.—For the past ten days all small shipping has been tied up on account of the heavy weather, but by Saturday it had started to move. Saturday the Canadian Pacific Ss. Princess Maquinna arrived on scheduled time, and after dispatching the usual passengers, mail and freight, left for Port Alice and way ports.

The Active Pass, after being stormbound for several days at Refuge Cove, left Sunday for Vancouver with a capacity load of fresh fish for the Vancouver market.

The schooner Malahat, which is owned and operated by the Gibson Brothers at Ahousat, and which had been tied up at Riley's Cove awaiting favorable weather, left Friday for Victoria and Vancouver, carrying a full load of logs from Nootka.

The Ms. Loyal left Ucluelet Saturday, after waiting fair weather conditions for several days, and was loaded with a consignment of fresh fish for Victoria. The Loyal is operated by the West Coast Fishing Company.

MAINTAINED SERVICE
Despite recent weather conditions, the little mail boat which plys between Ucluelet and Sechart, on the Alberni Canal, twice a week during the winter months, has rendered a regular service each Monday and Friday.

With the shipping resumed after the lengthy tie-up, the first large shipments of fresh spring salmon, and other fish products of the year, have started to move on the West Coast. Nootka and Quatsino boats are leaving daily for Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle with large cargoes of fish products.

EXCHANGE IS BIG PROBLEM

Outflow of Funds From Manchukuo to China Is Wor-rying Authorities

The Government of Manchukuo is reported to have started investigations with a view to controlling exchange, according to the Japanese journal Nichi Nichi. The proposed step is for the purpose of checking the flight of capital from the country to China.

"The control of exchange ought to have materialized long ago," states the journal. "The measure is necessary not only for the development of industry in Manchukuo but also for closer economic relations between Japan and the new state. According to the finance department of the Manchukuo Government, in the first and second years of the new regime, funds running into two hundred million yen flowed out from the country to China."

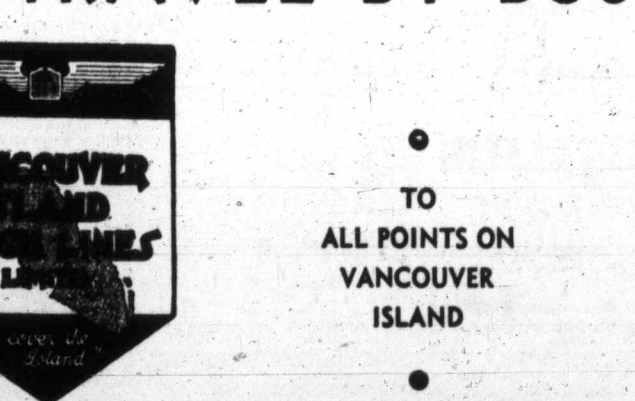

There are several reasons for the outflow of money from Manchukuo to China. One of them is the policy of the Chinese Government to withdraw Chinese funds from the new state. Another reason is the increased money remitted to their home country by Chinese laborers, traders and industrialists in Manchukuo. Still another reason is the high money rate prevailing in China. Trade has nothing to do with the outflow of Manchukuo funds. The trade between Manchukuo and China is not what it was in former years. There has been a marked decline in the imports of Manchukuo from China, as the market in the new state, which formerly was supplied by China, is being monopolized now by Japan.

"The state of exhaustion of Manchukuo farmers is also an argument in favor of the control of exchange. The Manchukuo Government is duty bound to see that there is no contraction of the currency in circulation due to the outflow of capital since a contraction will add to the difficulties of farmers, who are already in a sad plight. Another argument in favor of control is that without the proper control of the export of gold, foreigners intending to invest money in the country would be deterred. There is a steady increase in Japanese funds invested in the new state. A considerable portion of Japanese investments is now finding its way to China and other foreign countries, because of the lack of adequate control in Manchukuo."

Chinese sleuth, has written the script of "Charlie Chan in Paris," immediate successor in the series to his own "Charlie Chan in London," which met with great success last Autumn.

Warner Oland once more contributes his outstanding talents to the role of Chan. Preview audiences

THE LOVE FLIGHT
by Jeanne Dixon

SYNOPSIS
Anne Austin, the family fortune wiped out in the crash, her mother dead, and her father, a New York banker, a suicide, has only $100 when she must choose between earning her way or marrying Craig Braden, student son of a family which moves in the same social circles as had the Austins. Craig's growing infatuation is evident to all, and Anne knows he would have proposed a score of times had she not held him off. At the Bruno Beasley's house party at their "country estate," when Craig's avowed-of love is imminent again, Anne pretends faintness, he rushes away for brandy, and she hurries from Bruno's lakeside camp to the Beasley house. Even now Anne herself is amazed—until she is candid with herself:
she cannot think of marriage with this blaze young man, who has amused himself with the flatterings of Mayfair and Broadway butterflies. The comic column comment on the break between Anne and Craig, and he sails for Vichy. Down to her last dime, Anne sets a job at Palm Beach as second lady's maid with Mrs. Adolph Hoag, whose bizarre estate is called Bois Joli. This amazing young woman, who delights in tempestuous scenes, is a fiery red-head. Anne has taken the name of Anne Brent, but her employer, whom all the servants address as Madame, calls her Fifi. Carl Case, the Hoag's handsome young chauffeur, arouses the jealousy of Berta, a maid, by showing Anne the beautiful gardens and lending her books and magazines. "You leave Carl alone. He is my man!" Berta tells Anne.

CHAPTER V
At eleven o'clock next morning there was a knock at the door of Anne's room. She answered, prepared to find Berta and to give her
to understand any communication between them was to be on strictly official basis.

This one was not Berta. She was a middle-aged woman, tall and wooden, and she spoke to Anne in a monotone.

"Madame says you're to come to her boudoir."

"Boudoir? I'm afraid I don't understand."

"The round room with the ceiling like a church."

"Oh, yes, of course." Borderboudoir. Anne thought: I could have guessed. Too many things are happening—too many strange things. I'm getting muddled. This dress I'm wearing needs pressing in the worst way. And my shoes are a sight. A good polish would hide
the worn places.

Anne entered the circular room to find Mrs. Adolph Hoag—in a bath-robe of a violent purple, ruffled.

She looked again—surely she must be mistaken. Bruno Beasley? But what would Bruno be doing at Palm Beach at this time of year?

Anne's room. She answered, prepared to find Berta and to give her
to understand any communication between them was to be on strictly official basis.

This one was not Berta. She was a middle-aged woman, tall and

the worn places.

Anne entered the circular room to find Mrs. Adolph Hoag—in a bath-robe of a violent purple, ruffled.

she is to suggest to you a gown for luncheon."

Madame chuckled, drained the last drop of coffee.

"Bats," she boomed, "you're a mind-reader. We got company from the Old Country for lunch. He's a lord or a duke or something. You don't have to worry about other foreigners. Just give 'em plenty to eat and as much good wine as they can hold. That's all they come for, anyhow. Pick me out a dress Fifi one that would look all right in a castle."

From the racks, Anne selected a beige crepe, soft and flowing.

"Well, I'll be hornswoggled!"
Madame stood back and surveyed a prodigy. "Bats, she's picked another one of them Frenchies. No label in it, either. I cut 'em out to keep the custom officers from getting nosy."

"It's either a Lanvin, or a Patou," Anne said, examining the gown more closely. "I didn't select it because it's French, though. We have just as smart designers in the United States. Smarter, for us, as a matter of fact."

"I thought it'd been thrown in the ragbag," Madame sniffed, eyeing the dress with displeasure. "Ring for Carl, Bats. Tell him to take Fifi to the stores that don't steal the gold out of my teeth. You buy whatever you think will go with my hair, Fifi, and then you can go galivanting for the rest of the afternoon. Pa and I are going to eat at home tonight. You can come back tomorrow morning and let me know what's in the papers."

Carl Case was waiting with the blue car at the side entrance.

"I'd advise the front seat," he said, "beside the driver. It's the thing to do. The rear, first-class, is reserved for our betters."

Anne slid into the front seat. As the car pulled away, she glanced back, moved by an intuition she strove to resist, but could not. The maid Berta stood in the arch. One clenched fist was raised as the car took the curve Berta spat after it.
The gesture was so ugly that Anne, huddled in her seat, suddenly felt weak and a little bit ill.

"What's the programme?" Carl Case said.

"Shopping," Madame said you would know the best shops—those that do not rob her."

"Madame is an optimist. They all rob her. But I know the ones that get away with it."

Shopping for Mrs. Adolph Hoag was a revelation. In the "Maison" of Celeste, for example, Anne's first stop. A gown and the simplest of evening wraps, black velvet, very abbreviated, very chic—three hundred dollars.

"I'd like a memorandum of a bill, please," Anne told the sales-woman. When the memorandum came an item of $15 "for alteration" had been added to it.

"You've made a mistake," Anne said, indicating the $15 item. "There are no alterations."

The saleswoman became confidential.

"You are Madame Hoag's personal maid?"

"Why—yes."

"Then I am to understand you're new in the service. It's customary for Maison Celeste to allow 5 percent commission on purchases to professional shoppers. Personal maids are listed as professional."

Anne returned the memorandum to the saleswoman.

"Please deduct the $15," she said.
"I do not wish a commission.
Madame pays me for my services."

The saleslady took the memorandum. Her suavity was one. Her eyes were hostile. Snip of a maid!
Celeste would have to be careful now about overcharges on the Hoag bills.

"Where now?" Carl Case wanted to know when the shopping tour came to an end.

"If you could drive me to the boarding house in H—Street where I've been stopping," Anne said, "I would like to get my bags and arrange for my trunk to be sent to Bois Joli. Madame has given me the afternoon off."

"Madame has what?"

"She has given me the afternoon off."

"Hol-ee smoke! How did you do it? Mesmerize her and get her consent while she was in a comatose state?"

Laughter danced in Anne's dark eyes. The suggestion that Madame could ever be in a comatose state was ludicrous.

"No," she said. "Madame has a kind heart. She saw how seedy I looked, and is giving me a chance to refresh myself."

"Wrong answer entirely. You look as fresh as a rain-washed daisy—make it an orchid, if you prefer. Only, with your eyes—they're almost black, aren't they?—
I rather incline to the daisy. Also I've an idea. Great surprise to me.
Thought I'd done with ideas forever, but the last two days they've broken out on me with increasing frequency. Care to hear it?"

"I'm breathless," she was, literally. Carl Case had turned the car into a wide boulevard. Not toward

"It's my afternoon off, too, in a way," he said. "Madame will not use the car today, and she has instructed me to take advantage of the lapse to attend to any necessary overhauling. There's nothing to be hailed except your luggage, and we can pick that up later. If there is something you care to do, some place you want to go, car and chauffeur are at your service."

"Any suggestions?" Anne said, accepting the challenge to frolic with the recklessness of youth, too long denied. Play. She'd forgotten how to play.

"A swim might do. We've a very fine ocean, if I can think up a proper shore."

"There are public beaches. We could go to one of them. It's a noble suggestion, really, Mr.—"

"I'll trade you a Carl for an Anna."

"Bargain. If we could stop by my boarding house, I've a bathing suit there, and I could arrange about my trunk."

Carl turned the car so quickly
Anne was compelled to regain her balance against his shoulder. There was that in his eyes, as he inclined toward her and glanced down into her startled face, which set her heart racing faster than the engine that was whirling them—whither?

"We'll park the trunk in the back of the car, where it won't show.
There's plenty of room, and for your bags too, up to a dozen."

Now the blue car was humming along the boulevard again. Anne's luggage stowed safely in the rear.
A swim! The surf rolling in, flowing over her, carrying away the tense-ness and the weariness of the past weeks when the problem of living had become a grim battle for the bare necessities. Carl would know how to swim. With those shoulders he could swim rings around her.

"There's a place called Seabeach," Carl said. "Never tried it myself, but other chauffeurs recommend it highly. We might look it over."

"Lots," Seabeach. Anne tried to recall where she had heard the name. Why, yes. Of course. Now she remembered. Two seasons ago she had spent a part of the Winter in Palm Beach. She had brought her maid from New York and the girl had purloined Anne's best bathing suit and gone for a swim at Seabeach. Anne had missed the suit the very afternoon it was taken and the maid had confessed.

Seabeach. A public beach. Anne had never been to a public beach.
The beaches she knew belonged to the owners of estates; to fashionable clubs; to smart hotels. Cabanas and champagne cocktails and intrigue. This would be different.
Just she and Carl and some people who didn't matter. She was going to like Seabeach.

Anne rested on the beach, running the powdery white sand through her fingers, soaking in the sunshine. A romp with the surf had relaxed her body. She was comfortably tired. Carl Case had either been an Olympic swimmer or a lifeguard. She must get him to teach her that trick of shooting forward, suddenly, in the water like an arrow from a bow.

Anne sat up, looked about her.
Few people on the beach at this time of the day. Out of season.
She brushed the sand from her shoulders. She was at the point of reminding Carl that even afternoons at Seabeach did not last forever, when her roving eyes came to full stop. A man was trotting up the beach, bound in her direction.
She looked again—Surely she must be mistaken. Bruno Beasley? But what would Bruno be doing in Palm Beach at this time of year? And if he were in Palm Beach, why would he be at Seabeach? She was not mistaken. Bruno, in person!

"Oh!" Anne galvanized into a need for action. "I left my purse in the bath-house. Carl. Would you mind getting it for me?"

"Not in the least, if some one hasn't found it first." Carl was on his toes, sprinting toward the bath-houses.

Anne thought: I'll sprawl on the sand and turn my head until Bruno passes.

Too late. He had seen her and came galloping on, sand flying from his heels.

CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS GUILTY!

Stinted on real soap... Suds die down... Hard

RANCID FATS MAKE WASH "SMELLY"

CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS ECONOMICAL?... Not when strong bleaching alkalis—weak suds—hard rubbing—ruin hundreds of dollars' worth of clothes!

Cheap soap-chips lack real soap. They give thin, sleazy suds. And you have to do the work your soap should do! You rub till your back aches. You rub till your clothes are worn thin. And that's only half the damage.

Colors grow dingy Colors wilt and fade before the attack of harsh bleaching alkalis. Even white clothes turn gray as the thin suds settle back in a gray scum... rising after rinsing won't take it out!

Harsh, crude substances—extra rubbing—extra rinsing!
It's not surprising that expensive clothes have but a short life!

Dollars ahead with Chipso Switch to an honest-economy soap. Chipso is SOAPIER. It's richer, sudsier, safer! Its thick, hard-working suds lift the dirt out for you. No hard rubbing—no harsh bleaching effect. Quick, easy rinsing, too! You'll disyou'll delight in snowy-white clothes—perky bright colored clothes.

Yes—Chipso puts you dollars ahead because it keeps your clothes like new. Chipso-washed clothes wear months longer.

"Second Helpings Eat Up the Box!"

use cheap soap-chips!
"Second helpings" soon eat up the box. Why waste soap money? Chipso is sopier. Its thick suds hold up... your box of Chipso lasts longer.

Of course, madam, you can wash it," said the saleswoman. But she didn't dream "Madam" would use cheap soapchips! Weak suds meant hard rubbing... hard rubbing meant shrinking. Just three washings —and this sweater is now sizes too small—the bright color dimmed by strong bleaching alkalis.
Alas, this once pretty sweater will never be worn again!

BETTER GIVE IT TO BABY!

"EASIER WASHDAYS, TOO!"

"It's good-bye to losses from fading when you start to use Chipso," says Mrs. Herbert F.
Dehyle. "Materials stay new and strong, too!
They aren't rubbed thin or weakened by strong soap. With Chipso washing, my girl's dresses stay pretty for two and three years."

Three steps less!
"No overnight soaking... no hard rubbing
... no boiling!" praises Mrs. H. J. Hahn.
"That's how Chipso eases my washdays. And my white clothes are lovelier than ever!"

Dishes done in jig-time!
"Chipso leaves our hands smooth," adds Mrs.
John Boyle, Jr. "It isn't harsh or drying to the skin. But these soapy suds certainly cut grease.
Dishes sparkle and pots and pans are clean in jig-time."

I LIKE TO SEE MY WIFE'S HANDS LOOK

WE SHOULD THANK CHIPSO.

Duplicate sweaters washed
3 times in safe Chipso!
Rich, sudsy Chipso floated out the dirt. No rubbing at all... the sweater still fits perfectly. And gentle
as new.

All-Blacks to Meet Fifth Brigade Here In Cup Rugby Final

North Vancouver Rugger Will Battle Locals in Rounsefel Cup Match on March 9—British Columbia Championship at Stake

Holders of the Cowichan Cup, a 13-11 defeat in one of the finest exhibitions of the oval-ball code seen there for a long time.

The match here on March 9, which is expected to ring down the curtain on local rugby, will serve as a fitting conclusion to the 1934-35 season, as the club championship of British Columbia will be at stake.

Nosed out by the North Shore All-Blacks last year at Vancouver, the Fifth Brigade squad will be anxious to wipe out this defeat and gain possession of the coveted silverware. With their club functioning in machine-like fashion, the Gunners feel confident they will be able to turn back the threat of the black-sweated aggregation of ball handlers from North Vancouver.

With a successful season behind them on the Mainland, the All-Blacks will visit Victoria, determined to retain the title at the expense of the club they defeated last year after a gruelling struggle.

With the championship of British Columbia as the stake, and two of the sweetest clubs in the Province in action, the fixture should draw a record attendance of oval-ball fans here on Saturday, March 9.

Last year the locals journeyed across the Gulf waters and battled the North Shore All-Blacks at Brockton Point and went down to

Scenes During Midwinter Golf Tourney

A record-breaking field of 209 players drawn from all parts of the United States and Canada toured the Oak Bay course of the Victoria Golf Club in Victoria, B.C., during the recent seventh annual Empress Midwinter tournament. Right in the forefront most of the week was Jimmy McLarnin (1) whose 71 was the best medal score turned in by a visitor during the qualifying round. Jimmy got as far as the semi-finals in the handicap event before Ed Cuppage, Victoria, the ultimate winner, knocked out the world's welterweight champion, one up. Jimmy had to give him seven strokes. Mrs. Alex Gillespie, Victoria Golf Club (2) confounded the golfing experts who say a medalist never wins a cup, by leading the qualifiers with a 77 and then sweeping through to down Mrs. Edith M. Cuppage, of the Uplands, Victoria, at the twentieth hole to win the E. W. Beatty Handicap Trophy. Ralph Whaley (3), a long-hitting shotmaker from the Broadmoor Club, Seattle, scored the major upset of the week by defeating Lee Steil, Seattle Golf Club champion, 3 and 2, in the semi-finals of the open event, going on to win the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Trophy by defeating H. L. Rust, Hoquiam, Wash., 6 and 5. In photo No. 4, Ed Cuppage, winner of the Beatty Handicap Cup, is seen driving from the fifth tee. Out at sea can be spied the white elegance of the Orient and Hawaii-bound Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, and the Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle steamer, Princess Alice. No. 5 shows a section of the gallery watching Cuppage and Lee Steil at the second green, and in No. 6, Lee Steil (right), one of Seattle's leading amateurs, is seen congratulating Ed Cuppage, of the Uplands, Victoria, on the latter's one-up win in the thirty-six-hole final for the E. W. Beatty Trophy. Steil had to give Cuppage twenty-eight strokes on the round—Cuppage has been playing only for the past eight months—and found the handicap too much when his putting touch deserted him on the homeward nine in the afternoon round. He had Cuppage five down at the nineteenth, and played some sensational shots to match Cuppage's handicap advantage over three-quarters of the match.

GAILLARDIE IN FINE WIN

Seven-Year-Old Romps to Victory in Handicap Event at Santa Anita

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 (AP).—Gaillardie, seven-year-old gelding, owned by J. A. Nix, today romped the mile in 1:37 1-5 to win the $1,000 Crown Valley Handicap by a length from Cutie Face. Pomposity was third. The horse, out of Poinsettia by Blink II, paid $21.80, $9.40 and $5.40 on a $2 pari-mutuel ticket. The track record is 1:36 3-5, held by Sweeping Light.

The day's big feature was the victory of Zombi, filly owned by Bing Crosby, the singer. It was the horse's maiden victory, and paid $11.80 to win. Zombi set a new track record of 47.4-5 for the four furlongs.

Trout Fishermen Ready Today for Season's Opening

WITH the daily catch limit of fifteen fish, the trout fishing season will open today in Vancouver Island rivers and lakes, with the exception of Shawnigan Lake, where the season opens one month later. While high water has prevailed in most places, it was reported yesterday that the waters of the Cowichan River, one of the favored spots for trout fishing, were receding rapidly. Fishermen generally expect plenty of good sport and good catches, as a number of the lakes and rivers have been restocked by the Government Fisheries Department. All sportsmen are reminded that they must have a resident angler's licence, which may be procured at the Provincial Government Game Department or from any sporting goods or fishing tackle store.

Smith Captures Billiards Title

Handling his cue with uncanny accuracy and keeping good control of the ivory balls of the way, Fred Smith, veteran billiards player, captured the open billiards championship of the Tillamook Athletic Club, when he defeated George Pickering, another leading cue artist, 400 to 273 in the final match.

Victoria High School Captures Soccer Game

Local Institution Scores 1-0 Victory Over Mount View High in First Match of Thompson Cup Series at Hampton Road

Victoria High School soccer players yesterday put themselves a step nearer retaining the Thompson Cup by their 1-0 win over Mount View High School on the Hampton Road grounds. The affair drew a fair student crowd with a few outsiders also on the sidelines. The game was closely fought throughout with both teams going at it hammer-and-tongs.

CAGE OFFICIALS ARE BAFFLED BY PLAYERS' AGES

Basketball Protest Deferred When Birth Certificates Differ—Will Identify Players

What's in a name? To some people names mean nothing, but when persons have two names, then it sometimes causes misunderstanding and a general mixup. That's just the situation the Sunday School Basketball League officials are facing with a protest lodged by the Beavers Basketball Club.

The management of the Beavers lodged a protest, claiming that two members of the Chinese Students hoop squad are over the age limit for intermediate "B" boys' competition, and they even went so far as to get birth certificates with which they had hoped to verify this statement.

MONTREALERS TURN BACK NEW YORKERS IN CLEAN GAME, 5-2

Jimmy Ward and Bob Gracie Lead Gorman's Club to Clear-Cut Victory Before 10,000 Fans—Canadiens Beat St. Louis, 4-2—Detroit Displays Form in Beating Chicago, 5-1

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (CP).—In a "preview" of their possible meeting in National Hockey League playoffs, Montreal Maroons tonight defeated the New York Rangers, 5-2, at Madison Square Garden in their final meeting of the regular season. Victory gave the Maroons the series with three wins, two losses, and a tie. A crowd of 10,000 saw Jimmy Ward and Bob Gracie lead the Maroons to victory.

There was not a single penalty, marking the second clean game within the week, no penalties having been imposed at the Chicago-Leaf clash at Toronto Saturday night.

Baldy Northcott and Herb Cain, both left wingers, sank Montreal's first two tallies in the second period. At the start of the final frame Rangers reduced their deficit to one goal when Bill Cook converted a double pass from Bud Cook and Frank Boucher. Montreal pulled away again when Ward and Gracie broke loose for solo goals twenty-five seconds apart in the middle of the period.

Cecil Dillon scored on Murray Murdoch's assist for Rangers' second tally, but Ward and Gracie broke fast just before the game ended and Gracie took Ward's backward pass for Maroons' fifth goal.

HAWKS BADLY BEATEN

DETROIT, Feb. 28 (AP).—Flashing the form that carried them to the top last Winter, Detroit Red Wings defeated Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 tonight in a National Hockey League match.

The Hawks took a lead on Mush March's goal in the opening period, but Johnny Sorrell evened it up. Tied as the second period opened, the Wings scored three goals, while Eddie Morens was serving a major for drawing blood from Scott Bowman's forehead in a scuffle between Eddie Wiseman, Larry Aurie and Johnny Sorrell tallied the goals. Bowman was sent off for tripping, and while he was in the box Aurie got another goal, unassisted, the final tally of the game.

By ART LAMMERS, Louisville, Ky.

George Barnes and Alex Dallemore exhibited some classy ball passing during the first half, and it kept the Mount View defence worried. These two forwards on the left wing and Douglas Gent, left half for Victoria High School, turned in good performances.

NEARLY SCORES

Bert Politano broke through the Victoria High School defence for what looked like a certain goal, but Gent came from nowhere to break up the rush. With the calibre of this game the forthcoming second match to decide whether Victoria High School will retain the cup or whether Mount View will take the silverware should be packed with excitement. The second match will be played in about a fortnight's time on the Victoria High School grounds.

V. G. Pritchard refereed the match, and the teams lined up as follows:

Victoria High School—Drummond, Bishop, Ferguson, Bridge, Gent, Brown, Pierce, O'Neil, Barnes, Dallemore and Fletcher.

Mount View High School—Moss, Frost, Alexander, Moore, Waring, Politano, McDonald, Miles, Westgate and two others.

SIXTH ROUND OF ENGLISH CUP SE TOMORROW

Sheffield Tackles Arsenal XI; 80,000 Expected to Attend

Former Squad Will Entertain Top-Ranking Team at Home — West Bromwich Meets Preston North End — Wanderers Oppose Everton — Scottish Teams Resume Schedule

LONDON, Feb. 28 (CP).—Managers of eight confident soccer teams are putting final touches to well-thought-out plans for winning their sixth-round games in the contest for the English Cup.

Six First and two Second Division clubs continue warfare Saturday as the drive for the famous old cup and soccer glory approaches its final phase.

In the Arsenal camp enthusiasm runs high as the possibility of winning both the cup and the league championship looms brighter, but again the gunners must battle away from home. Sheffield Wednesday, a great cup-fighting team, provides the opposition.

The Wednesday is fielding its strongest side and a record crowd of nearly 80,000 is expected.

Arsenal will also be at full strength. Davidson, the young Scot, transferred from St. Johnstone, will play at inside-right in his first English Cup match.

FACES NORTH END

West Bromwich Albion at home to Preston North End is training quietly at Birmingham. They hope to field against Preston eight of the eleven players that participated in the cup-final four year ago.

North End has reached the sixth round without conceding a goal. The defence is of the swift, quick-tackling type, while the forward line is one of the smallest in the country. Maxwell, the centre-forward, is known to the home crowd as "Quicksilver".

Bolton Wanderers have been training at the seaside for the tussle at Everton and expect to be at full strength. Their opponents, however, are likely to be without Seger, their famous goalkeeper, who is suffering from a damaged collarbone.

Birmingham visit Burnley, rugged Second Division side.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW, Feb. 28 (CP).—Cup-tie anxieties over for a couple of weeks. Scottish League teams resume league play on Saturday. There is a full schedule for both divisions.

St. Mirren is host to Aberdeen. Another team fighting to avoid relegation, Falkirk, "welcomes" the leaders of the parade, Rangers. The champs are not likely to have their sixth entry in the loss column chalked up against them.

St. Johnstone has a good chance of remaining on the third rung of the standing when the outfit meets Ayr United on the latter's home grounds.

Celtic, just a step behind Rangers, entertains Clyde, in eighth position, and Hearts, away from home, tackle the Motherwell eleven.

Third Lanark, Second Division leader, should have no trouble taking both points from lowly-placed Montrose.

Albions Taste First Setback In Soccer Race

Albions dropped their first match yesterday afternoon in the Provincial Recreational Centre Football League, when they went down to a 4-3 defeat at the hands of the Rangers in a well-fought fixture.

The win brought the Rangers up level with the Albions in the scramble for points, and placed the two clubs deadlocked at the top of the standings.

Spurs garnered their first point of the season when they held the Hornets to a 2-2 draw in another keen battle. The result dropped the Hornets to second place in the race for the league championship.

Next week the Rangers will battle the Spurs at Central Park, and the Hornets will meet the Albions at Central Park. Kick-offs will be at 2 o'clock.

SPORT CLASS

Double Main Event to Feature Tomorrow's Wrestling at Local Gym

Veering from the usual programme of a semi-windup and main event, Promoter Fred Richardson, local wrestling impresario, yesterday announced that he has lined up two top-notch bouts, to be billed as a double main event, for tomorrow evening's squirrel card at the Tillikum gymnasium.

In one bout, Gust Johnson, the mighty Swede, from Rockford, Ill., will try his prowess against a newcomer, Buddy O'Brien, New York grappler, whose advance notices herald him to be a regular bull moose on the mat. The other main event will see the good-looking blond from Hollywood, "Dutch" Howland, battling the rugged "Young" Tarzan, of Edmonton.

Johnson has gone to the top of the heap in the middleweight ranks, having defeated the titleholder, Gus Kallio, in a non-championship go. Recently he began campaigning against some of the world's best light-heavyweights, who are now in the Northwest, and has done such a good job of it that he may desert the lighter ranks for good.

EXCELLENT RECORD

O'Brien comes to Victoria with an excellent record from the East and South. Strictly a rough and ready mixer, he almost causes a riot whenever he appears. It should be interesting to watch what will happen when he elects to open up on the hunky Swede.

Shuttle Stars Off for East For Big Meet

Double Main Event to Feature Tomorrow's Wrestling at Local Gym

VEANCOVER, Feb. 28.—On their way to Ottawa, where they will represent British Columbia in the Canadian badminton championship meet, three outstanding shuttle players left here this afternoon over Canadian National Railways. They were Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick, Vancouver, Dominion women's singles champion, and joint holder of the mixed doubles crown; Dick Birch, Vancouver, who won the provincial men's singles title in 1934, but was unable to compete this year owing to a foot injury now completely healed; and Eric Leney, Duncan, Vancouver Island singles and doubles champion. The trio will be joined at Kamloops by Margaret Taylor, of Kelowna, who copped the provincial singles title this year from Mrs. Patrick, who was defending her last year's laurels.

Bucky Harris Is Optimistic About Washington Club

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP).—Just a dozen years ago an unsung Washington club, with Stanley "Bucky" Harris as its youthful manager, battled to an American League pennant.

As he rattled southward today, a veteran heading into his twelfth managerial campaign, Harris carried with him a feeling that his present band of Senators may deal the baseball world as much of a surprise as did his original Washington team.

"I feel just as optimistic, or perhaps more so, about this club than I did about the other," he said before leaving. "We surprised ourselves that year, and I think we're willing to surprise ourselves and others again this season."

Harris, who has managed both Detroit and Boston, figures his chief worry may be the pitching corps. "If four of five of our pitchers have a good year, we'll be all set," he said.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Security Prices
Little Changed
At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP).—The spirit appeared to be willing but the flesh was a little weak in today's financial markets. The turnover amounted to only 573,546 shares.

The enthusiasm for the falls was noticeably lukewarm after overnight orders had been easily filled at higher levels.

Among new fractional gainers were American Can at 117 7/8, American Tobacco "B" at 80 3/4, Liggett & Myers "B" at 105 3/4, Woolworth at 54 3/4, American Telephone at 105 7/8, International Harvester at 39 1/2 and Deere at 27 3/4. American Crystal Sugar preferred gained 2 points at 84.

Santa Fe preferred advanced 3 points to 79 on a few transfers, but the common was down 3-4 at 40 5/8. U.S. Steel lost a fraction at 32 1/2. Bethlehem was off 3-8 at 25 5/8 and Consolidated Gas was easier at 18 3/8. General Motors, Chrysler, National Biscuit, Sears, Roebuck, N.Y. Central, Baltimore & Ohio and numerous others were off small amounts.

A good demand for lower priced railroad issues featured the bond market. A steady tone in first-grade corporate loans was offset by softness in United States Governments. United States Government obligations were uniformly lower.

"My salad days, When I was green in judgment but cold in blood." So ruminates Cleopatra. Apt and perpetually fresh, this expression is as vivid today as it was when first penned. The metaphorical allusion is, of course to our youth, when our years are comparatively few and our judgments accordingly as green as a salad. Its earliest recorded appearance is in Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra," I, V, published in 1606.

A Negro woman called regularly at a bank to draw her weekly pay. As she could neither read nor write she used to make an X on the receipt. Then one day she made a circle. "What's the matter, Liza? Why don't you make an X as usual?" asked the cashier. "Well, sar," replied Liza, "Ah done got married yesterday and changed my name."

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HOW ATTACKS OF ANGINA PECTORIS MAY BE PREVENTED

So many middle-aged apparently healthy individuals died of angina pectoris during the past few years that very intense investigation is being made as to its cause.

You perhaps know of the symptoms—a tight gripping sensation in the region of the breast bone, a feeling of impending death, the need of stopping suddenly as further movement seems impossible.

It was this need for immediate stopping of anything that was being done, for instance, that gave research physicians the idea that it was lack of oxygen in the blood supplying the muscles of the heart that caused the "tight" feeling and often collapse.

And as we remember our younger days when we ran a certain distance we got a "tight" feeling in the chest. By running more slowly or walking for a while we got what we called our "second wind" and were then able to continue at the old pace. This was because we got our breathing adjusted to the needs of our blood for oxygen.

Thus, we find marathon runners and long distance swimmers adjust their breathing to a certain number of steps or strokes so that the lungs can supply the blood with the necessary amount of oxygen to keep the muscles of the heart and all the other muscles of the body also properly supplied. When they find themselves getting slightly out of breath they lessen their speed slightly until the blood gets enough oxygen into it again.

The point then regarding those with angina pectoris is that they should not exercise beyond the oxygen needs of the heart. Similarly, it is felt that large meals should not be eaten, as they require a large amount of oxygen to burn them up in the body, thus lessening the amount in the blood itself. Further, the pressure from the large meal in the stomach, sometimes with considerable gas formation, also interferes with the small vessels that carry blood to the heart muscle.

It would seem then that with cases of actual disease of the heart muscle or its valves, lessening the amount of exercise and eating small amounts of food at one time would lessen the amount of oxygen the heart muscle needs, and so prevent these "gripping" symptoms in the chest.

It was in an Edinburgh tramcar a working man was chewing his tobacco vigorously, and as energetically spitting the juice in the aisle.

After a while the conductor came round and, noticing the evidence on the floor, he began to ask each of the male passengers:

"Did ye spit on the floor?" and "Did ye spit on the floor?"

Everyone indignantly denied the offence, but when the working man was reached he answered:

"I canna tell a lie: It was me that spit on the floor."

The conductor grabbed him and said:

"Ye're just the mon a'm looking fer: e'e me a chew o' yer tobacco."

Well, Sandy, Ah hear ye've got yerself married at last!" said Donald.

"Ay," said Sandy. "Ah've taken the big step."

"An' what kind o' match did ye mak?" asked his friend.

Sandy shrugged his shoulders.

"Weel, Donald," he replied pensively, "to tell ye the truth, Ah didna do as weel as Ah expected, but then Ah dinna think my wee lassie did, either."
